Senate Urges U.N. Action In Viet War

Think Johnson Welcomes Move On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Growing support for a resolution aimed at obtaining United Nations action on the Vietnam war is generating Capitol Hill speculation President Johnson might be receptive to the idea.

The resolution sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has gained backing of 56 other senators—Democrats and Republicans, liberals and conservatives, war policy backers and opponents.

While the discreet language of the resolution would merely urge the President to consider directing U.S. representatives to the United Nations to seek action, its passage would be interpreted as an appeal to him to do so.

Approval would express the sense of the Senate and not be binding on the President. But one informed source said he doubted Mansfield would seek to put Johnson in a position of rejecting a suggestion for a possible step toward peace.

The opposite appears to be the case, the source said—that Mansfield expects the President would act on the resolution, with his hand strengthened by the strong support already indicated.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., one of the most outspoken critics of Johnson's Vietnam policies, advanced another reason why a resolution on U.N. action might be welcomed by the President. He said it "may be the best way of building bridges between Congress and the executive" on the Vietnam issue.

Somalia, Kenya Open Peace Talks

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Summit talks open this weekend in an attempt to end the four-year guerrilla war along the frontier between Kenya and Somalia in which nearly 3,000 have died.

Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda will act as mediator at the peace conference in Arusha, northern Tanzania, between President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya and Premier Mohammed Ibrahim Egal of the Somali Republic.

Presidents Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and Milton Obote of Uganda have been invited to attend as observers. A closer neighbor to the disputed frontier, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, has not. He and Somalia have their own border troubles.

Kenya and Somalia agreed at the recent African summit meeting in the Congo to settle their long-standing border dispute by peaceful means. If they come to terms, general discussion may follow on Zambia's desire to join Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania in an East African common market.

U.N. Plan Near For Permanent Mideast Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A drafting team of the U.N. Security Council was reported near agreement today on a plan aimed at opening the way to a permanent settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The 10 nonpermanent members of the 15-nation council were to put the final touches to a proposal to send a special U.N. representative to the Middle East.

The drafting team consists of six of the 10 elected council members—India, Argentina, Deserters Plague U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — A number of U.S. servicemen desert in Vietnam and try to live by dealing on the black market, pimping or occasionally by peddling marijuana, a U.S. military police source reported today.

The number of deserters at large runs from 40 to 50 at any given time, the source said, and their freedom lasts from a few days to several months.

The deserters are able to go underground most successfully in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese section. Those with luck make contact with black marketeer who furnish them with counterfeit PX ration cards to make large purchases for resale on the flourishing Saigon black market.

Some of them also join up with prostitutes and live partly off their earnings, the source said.

A few peddle marijuana to other GIs, but the drug is so easily available this isn't very lucrative trade.

American MPs and civilians checking identification cards at the various post exchanges are given photographs of service men absent without leave and most are caught this way, the police source said.

Once caught, the men are returned to their units and a trial by court-martial.

Some slip away from their units while awaiting trial on other charges. Many are marijuana users.

Most deserters serve their sentences in a stockade in Vietnam and the are set back to their units to complete their one-year tours in the war zone. Sentences served in the stockade are considered "bad time" which doesn't count toward either the 12-month Vietnam service period or the time required for discharge.

The police source said no deserters are known to have escaped from Vietnam. This would require considerable money to get a fake passport and be smuggled out of the country.

Teachers Talk In Lancaster

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Representatives of Lancaster teachers involved in a recent pay dispute declined to disclose the outcome of a meeting this morning between the teachers and the jurist instrumental in getting the teachers to return to their classrooms.

The 90 minute meeting was held behind closed doors with Fairfield County Common Pleas Court Judge Merlin Parent.

Several suggestions on the pay measure reportedly came Thursday night at another meeting with teacher representatives and Judge Parent.

Brazil, Nigeria, Ethiopia and Mali.

Delegates predicted that the full 10-member group would firm up a resolution in time for the council to act on it next week.

The drafting committee has been going over rival plans submitted by India, Denmark and Latin America.

The Indian plan, favored by the Soviet bloc and the Arabs, would give the U.N. representative specific instructions to call for withdrawal of Israeli troops from land they seized from Egypt, Jordan and Syria in the June war.

The Danish draft, supported by the United States and Israel, would merely give general instructions to the representative.

The Latin American proposal resembles that of India, calling for Israeli withdrawal from "positions occupied by it as a result" of the war.

The Indian draft reportedly calls for peace on the basis of respect for the rights of all states to security and independence and an end to the Arab state of belligerency toward Israel.

It would also specify the need for free navigation through international waterways and settlement of refugee problems.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg canceled an appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on Vietnam scheduled for Thursday when he learned that the drafters were on the brink of agreement.

Illinois Men Are Sought For Robbery

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Stark County authorities today charged two Illinois men with the armed robbery of a supermarket and asked federal help to locate them.

Two policemen and a woman were wounded in the Oct. 13 holdup.

County Prosecutor David Dowd Jr. filed charges against Clifford Daniels, 29, of Wilmington and Henry M. Gargano, 35, of Lamont. Dowd asked Asst. U.S. Atty. Bernard Stunlinski in Cleveland to request FBI help in locating the two men for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

The holdup netted $3,500 and none of the money was recovered. An Akron man, Ralph Garduno, 31, also has been charged with armed robbery in connection with the holdup and is being held without bond in Stark County jail.

The patrolmen, Earl Schone-man, 36, and Nick Nitzu, 26, were hit by submachine gun fire as they arrived at the A&P store in Mahoning Road.

Carolyn Johnson, 21, of Canton, was hit by a slug that crashed through the store window. Nitzu has been released from Mercy Hospital and Schone-man is reported in good condition.

Police are continuing the investigation for one more person believed involved in the holdup.

Solons Hear Diaz Ordaz

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico, a nation which is a major customer of U.S. goods, spoke out in Congress today for greater trade opportunities for Latin America and their developing areas.

He did not refer directly, in a speech to a joint session of the Senate and House, to a wave of protectionist bills now pending in Congress to restrict imports of a variety of products. But Latin American nations, the Scandinavian countries and the European Common Market nations have registered vigorous opposition to such measures with the State Department.

The Mexican president's appearance at the Capitol constituted his major address in this country where he is on a state visit, with his wife, as guests of President and Mrs. Johnson. Johnson also has spoken out against the protectionist measures.

From a 21-gun arrival salute the White House South lawn to a presidential state dinner Thursday night, the red carpet was out for the first Mexican president to visit the United States in eight years.

President Johnson, raising his glass in a champagne toast, said: "May the peace and friendship which unites our nations be a symbol to others of how nations should conduct themselves."

The two presidents are celebrating the final ceremonies of the Chamizal Treaty through which the two nations peacefully settled a 105-year-old border dispute.

Before Diaz Ordaz entertains President and Mrs. Johnson tonight at a dinner in the Mexican Embassy, the two heads of state will witness formal signing of a treaty transferring the small strip of land known as El Chamizal—the thicket—from Texas to the Mexican state of Chihuahua.

Judge Rules On Harding Letter Suit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A case involving letters written by the late Warren G. Harding to a Marion, Ohio, woman before Harding was elected president will be heard in Franklin County Common Pleas Court here, a federal judge ruled Thursday.

The New York Times, one of the defendants in the case, had filed a motion with U.S. District Court asking that the case be transferred from common pleas court to district court.

Dr. George T. Harding III of Worthington, Ohio, a nephew of the late president, filed suit in common pleas court in 1964, asking that the letters be impounded and $1 million in damages be awarded. Dr. Harding maintains the letters are the property of the president's heirs.

The suit says the Times printed parts of the letters on July 10, 1964 under the headline "250 Love Letters from Harding to Ohio Merchant's Wife."

The letters were written by Harding, then a U.S. senator, to Mrs. Carrie Phillips, wife of a Marion merchant. Mrs. Phillips died in 1960. Harding was a newspaper publisher in Marion.

Delay Boycott At Oberlin

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—Oberlin College students protesting the war in Vietnam delayed a threatened classroom boycott today as a followup to a four-hour demonstration Thursday in which fire hoses and tear gas were used.

Dr. Robert K. Carr, Oberlin president, said classes were conducted normally, and that the campus was quiet.

A boycott had been announced at a student meeting Thursday night. Some of the students were incensed that Oberlin city authorities had permitted use of fire hoses and tear gas to disperse a group of about 70 student protesters who had surrounded a Navy recruiter's car.

Lt. Cmdr. C. R. Smith of Detroit, the Navy recruiter, was kept in his car for about four hours by the crowd that surrounded it.

An Oberlin councilman told the student meeting Thursday night that police have been instructed to arrest anyone who violates the law during future demonstrations. No arrests were made Thursday, and there were no injuries, although a few students were treated for tear-gas effects.

Carr said that Navy recruiters would be back today and that faculty members would escort the recruiters to their scheduled interviews with students on campus.

Hayley Mills Involved in Suit

LONDON (AP)—Hayley Mills, 21-year-old British actress, is named in a divorce petition against her husband, film director Roy Boulting.

Hayley, the daughter of actor John Mills, started in films at the age of 12 in "Tiger Bay" and made her name playing the roles of shy young English girls. Earlier this year she worked with Boulting when she starred in "The Family Way."

Mrs. Boulting, 38, a former fashion model, announced in January she was suing her husband for divorce. Thursday the case was relisted with the addition of Hayley's name. She is shown on the list as "intervening" meaning she is seeking an opportunity to reply to allegations contained in the wife's petition.

Tightened Credit Predicted Soon

By JOSEPH R. COYNE Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Signs are pointing to a new wave of tightened credit—but government officials say lenders and borrowers are unlikely to feel the effects for at least several more months.

And they contend a new credit crunch can be headed off altogether if Congress approves President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge.

A credit squeeze last year resulted in a shortage of mortgage money and sent the housing industry to its knees. The recovery is not yet complete.

The newest storm cloud was the highest interest rate—5.75 per cent—offered by the Treasury Department in 46 years to borrow money for more than one year. It will apply to $1.5 billion of the $12.2 billion to be borrowed by the Treasury on Monday.

Treasury officials contend the high rate will have no appreciable effect on the ability of banks and savings and loan associations to compete for consumer savings.

High interest rates last year prompted many savers to withdraw their money from savings and loans and banks for investments paying more interest, a factor which tightened the available supply of mortgage money.

Communist Losses 134 In Assault

Admiral's Son Said Captured Near Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese infantry battalion hurled back three suicidal charges by a North Vietnamese regiment today and reported 134 of the enemy killed in a jungle clearing 70 miles north of Saigon.

The action near Phuoc Binh, capital of Phuoc Long Province, was the biggest ground battle in a week dominated by intense U.S. air raids on North Vietnam.

The U.S. Command announced that three U.S. Navy jets were shot down in Thursday's raids and all three pilots were missing. This brought U.S. losses in the past three days to 10 planes and raised to 717 the total of U.S. combat planes officially reported lost over North Vietnam.

American pilots reported shooting down two more enemy MIGs during raids on Hanoi Thursday, bringing their score to 24 Communist jets reported destroyed or damaged in the air and on the ground this week.

Saturn Launch Date Nov. 7

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency has picked Nov. 7—the 50th anniversary of Russia's Bolshevik revolution and election day around the launching date for its first Saturn 5 super rocket.

The 363-foot-tall monster, the type rocket which is to one day propel three American astronauts toward the moon, is to hurl an unmanned Apollo moonship 11,400 miles into space in a major test of the new rocket and spacecraft heat shield.

In announcing the date, however, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said that the complexity of the rocket and launch equipment are liable to force delays beyond that time.

"This is a target date," said Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. "We are in a very complex learning process and we are going to take all the time we need on that first launch."

Space agency spokesmen said status of Saturn 5 hardware and "not politics dictated the date."

It will be the first flight test of the Saturn 5's first two stages and the first time America's man-to-the-moon launch complex will be put into operation.

Corwin Burglary Loss $10,000

WAYNESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The take from a small one-room hardware store in nearby Corwin apparently was so good that thieves made two trips, netting almost $10,000 in cash and merchandise.

Warren County sheriff's deputies said Purkey's Hardware Store had been hit last Friday night and $5,000 in small bills and change were taken. Thursday night, thieves concentrated on merchandise — taking 30 wristwatches, three rifles, several pistols and chain saws. Entrance both time was made through a rear window.

Time Change Sunday Awakens Old Controversy

By F. RICHARD CICCONE Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of the states are keeping in time with each other this year, but some are threatening to change step as soon as possible and Kentucky keeps doing what comes naturally.

Sunday at 2 a.m. marks another semiannual session of the great American midcentury game: changing the clock.

The latest ritual—turn the clock back one hour Sunday—is the first mandatory time switch under the Uniform Time Act passed in 1966 by Congress.

The new law tossed into one crucible all the controversial arguments that DST had caused since its inauguration in 1918. The federal law said that state legislatures could apply for exemption.

Alaska and Hawaii were exempted. Ohio and Virginia partially observed the new law and 46 states complied in fact if not in spirit.

For millions of persons, changing the clock implies one hour less sleep in the spring and one hour more this Sunday. Millions of others, however, regard clock changing as the war cry to rally legislators and lobbyists against DST.

A bill was introduced in the Ohio legislature to place the state on Standard Time permanently, but the newly appointed legislature defeated it despite cries of protest from rural representatives. Virginia made a stab at creating some sort of conformity in 1964 by putting the state on DST from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

The law didn't apply to Alexandria or other suburbs of Washington, which kept time by the White House clock.

The states having bonafide complaints against the law were those divided by two time zones. It was common practice in such states to let the eastern part remain on Standard Time all year and allow the western section to adopt DST to give the state a uniform summer time.

States in this category were Indiana, Idaho, Nevada, Nebraska, Florida, Texas, Michigan, Kentucky, North and South Dakota and Tennessee.

Michigan burdened by its westward-reaching Upper Peninsula, has a particular problem. Upper Michigan will be turning its clocks back to Central Standard Time and the lower section of the state to Eastern Standard.

Tennessee went along with DST this year but some areas of the "show me" state apparently had seen enough and junked DST some time ahead of the Georgia couldn't make up its mind about DST in April so it went along with its neighbors. The legislature passed a resolution putting Georgia on DST unless two of its five bordering states opposed DST.

Arkansas complied with the time act and went on DST for the first time. Some people didn't like it and the issue is expected to be debated at the legislature's special session in February.

Missouri joined the parade to DST this year but some areas of the "show me" state apparently had seen enough and junked DST some time ahead of the laws' date which is Sunday.

Iowa's legislature attempted to push through a bill maintaining the state's practice of observing DST from Memorial Day to Labor Day, but it failed and Iowa complied with the law.

Kentucky, straddling two time zones which in the summer results in clocks on EST, EDT, CST, CDT, requested a suspension from the secretary of transportation who is charged with enforcing the time act.

The Transportation Department, while observing carefully the states' efforts to comply with the new law, has tacitly agreed to be lenient this year.

SET CLOCKS BACK SATURDAY — Pickaway Countians are reminded to set their clocks back one hour before retiring Saturday evening. Dusk will come an hour earlier on Sunday but most will enjoy that extra 40 winks on Monday morning.

The 363-foot-tall monster, the type rocket which is to one day propel three American astronauts toward the moon, is to hurl an unmanned Apollo moonship 11,400 miles into space in a major test of the new rocket and spacecraft heat shield.

In announcing the date, however, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said that the complexity of the rocket and launch equipment are liable to force delays beyond that time.

"This is a target date," said Maj. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. "We are in a very complex learning process and we are going to take all the time we need on that first launch."

Space agency spokesmen said status of Saturn 5 hardware and "not politics dictated the date."

It will be the first flight test of the Saturn 5's first two stages and the first time America's man-to-the-moon launch complex will be put into operation.

Corwin Burglary Loss $10,000

WAYNESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The take from a small one-room hardware store in nearby Corwin apparently was so good that thieves made two trips, netting almost $10,000 in cash and merchandise.

Warren County sheriff's deputies said Purkey's Hardware Store had been hit last Friday night and $5,000 in small bills and change were taken. Thursday night, thieves concentrated on merchandise — taking 30 wristwatches, three rifles, several pistols and chain saws.

Entrance both times was made through a rear window.

Time Change Sunday Awakens Old Controversy

By F. RICHARD CICCONE Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Most of the states are keeping in time with each other this year, but some are threatening to change step as soon as possible and Kentucky keeps doing what comes naturally.

Sunday at 2 a.m. marks another semiannual session of the great American midcentury game: changing the clock.

The latest ritual—turn the clock back one hour Sunday—is the first mandatory time switch under the Uniform Time Act passed in 1966 by Congress.

The new law tossed into one crucible all the controversial arguments that DST had caused since its inauguration in 1918. The federal law said that state legislatures could apply for exemption.

Alaska and Hawaii were exempted. Ohio and Virginia partially observed the new law and 46 states complied in fact if not in spirit.

For millions of persons, changing the clock implies one hour less sleep in the spring and one hour more this Sunday. Millions of others, however, regard clock changing as the war cry to rally legislators and lobbyists against DST.

A bill was introduced in the Ohio legislature to place the state on Standard Time permanently, but the newly apportioned legislature defeated it despite cries of protest from rural representatives. Virginia made a stab at creating some sort of conformity in 1964 by putting the state on DST from Memorial Day to Labor Day. The law didn't apply to Alexandria or other suburbs of Washington, which kept time by the White House clock.

The states having bonafide complaints against the law were those divided by two time zones. It was common practice in such states to let the eastern part remain on Standard Time all year and allow the western section to adopt DST to give the state a uniform summer time.

States in this category were Indiana, Idaho, Nevada, Nebraska, Idaho, Nevada, Nebraska, Florida, Texas, Michigan, Kentucky, North and South Dakota and Tennessee.

Michigan burdened by its westward-reaching Upper Peninsula, has a particular problem. Upper Michigan will be turning its clocks back to Central Standard Time and the lower section of the state to Eastern Standard.

Tennessee went along with DST this year and is happily changing the clock to Standard Time Sunday.

Georgia couldn't make up its mind about DST in April so it went along with its neighbors. The legislature passed a resolution putting Georgia on DST unless two of its five bordering states opposed DST.

Arkansas complied with the time act and went on DST for the first time. Some people didn't like it and the issue is expected to be debated at the legislature's special session in February.

Missouri joined the parade to DST this year but some areas of the "show me" state apparently had seen enough and junked DST some time ahead of the laws' date which is Sunday.

Iowa's legislature attempted to push through a bill maintaining the state's practice of observing DST from Memorial Day to Labor Day, but it failed and Iowa complied with the law.

Kentucky, straddling two time zones which in the summer results in clocks on EST, EDT, CST, CDT, requested a suspension from the secretary of transportation who is charged with enforcing the time act.

The Transportation Department, while observing carefully the states' efforts to comply with the new law, has tacitly agreed to be lenient this year.

SET CLOCKS BACK SATURDAY — Pickaway Countians are reminded to set their clocks back one hour before retiring Saturday evening. Dusk will come an hour earlier on Sunday but most will enjoy that extra 40 winks on Monday morning.

Thursday was Lt. Cmdr. John Sydney McCain, apparently the son of Vice Adm. John S. McCain Jr., the U.S. Navy commander in chief in Europe, and the grandson of one of the Navy's greatest carrier task force commanders in World War II. Adm. McCain said at his headquarters in London he had been notified his son was missing over North Vietnam.

Hanoi said McCain was hit in the leg when his Phantom jet was "blasted down by a ground-to-air missile before it could strike."

In the ground action north of Saigon, troops of the 88th North Vietnamese regiment attacked across minefields after midnight after laying down heavy mortar barrages on the South Vietnamese positions and a nearby refugee hamlet.

They were thrown back three times in five hours from the barbed wire perimeter around a battalion of South Vietnam's 5th Infantry Division.

The government troops captured 73 weapons, including 17 machine guns and rocket launchers and three rarely seen enemy flamethrowers. South Vietnamese casualties officially were termed light, and unofficial reports from the battle area said 12 government soldiers were killed and 24 wounded.

The fighting broke off just before daybreak.

Fast-firing U.S. gunship helicopters, American and Vietnamese tactical bombers and Vietnamese artillery supported the infantrymen. A spokesman said Vietnamese artillery batteries fired 2,000 rounds.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Rain spread across Northern Ohio Thursday night and early this morning and some showers were reported in the southwestern portions of the state. Causing the weather was an intensifying low pressure center located early this morning in west central Indiana.

A cold high pressure system building over the Canadian prairies will push southeast following the low, bringing cold winds and snow flurries across the Great Lakes tonight and Saturday.

Temperatures early today ranged from around the 40-degree mark in the rain areas of northwestern Ohio to the lower 50s in the Ohio River Valley.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Mostly cloudy and colder with occasional showers or snow flurries tonight, lows 28-35. Variable cloudiness and colder. Saturday with occasional snow flurries mostly near Great Lakes.

CENTRAL OHIO — Turning cooler by afternoon or evening. Cloudy and cooler tonight with chance of few showers or snow flurries. Low tonight in mid 30s. Saturday cloudy and cooler.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Showers and turning cooler tonight, low 35-40. Saturday cloudy and cooler.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO — Mostly cloudy with showers or snow flurries and colder tonight and Saturday. Lows tonight in 30s. Highs Saturday lower 40s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO — Tonight cloudy with occasional light showers or snow flurries and colder, low 30-35. Saturday considerable cloudiness and cooler.

McCarthy Wants Rusk To Quit

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Calling for the "quiet resignation" of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., says top Democrats should oppose President Johnson in the 1968 presidential primaries unless there is "significant improvement in the Vietnam war picture."

The statement to about 1,000 persons Thursday on the University of California campus at Berkeley was greeted with standing applause.

A Rusk resignation, he said, would "indicate at least a possibility of change" in the administrations foreign policy.

McCarthy is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Rhodes Approves Poverty Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has approved a $1,047,218 federal grant to continue nine antipoverty projects in six counties of the Miami Valley.

Immediate release has been made of $261,807 to finance projects of the Supporting Council of Preventative Effort through next month in Darke, Greene, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Warren counties. Other funds remain subject to congressional approval.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's Navy Day and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has succeeded in getting Navy bean soup on the Senate menu alongside the traditional Senate bean soup.

Senate restaurant manager Joseph K. Diamond said the Navy bean soup will go on the menu for the first time ever as far as he knows as a result of Percy's Senate-floor appeal last week.

Percy—a Navy lieutenant during World War II—assured the Senate his appeal on behalf of the Navy soup meant no disrespect for the Senate's own famous bean soup.

"Without Senate bean soup to support this body during the long winter session, I shudder to think where the nation might be today," he said.

"But I would hope that for at least this one day there would be room on the menu for two bean soups."

There is.

Laymen Slate Speaker

The Rev. Mardy Picazo, field superintendent of the Oriental Missionary Society in Haiti, will be the principal speaker 6:45 p.m. at the Circleville Laymen's Assn. meeting in Noel's King Boy, Lancaster Pike.

REV. MARDY PICAZO

Picazo is engineer and manager of a radio station owned and operated by the OMS. He has served in Haiti for the past 15 years and has played an active role in making the station one of the most powerful missionary stations in the Caribbean area.

Beaming its messages in four languages to many countries of the world, the station is receiving thousands of letters monthly from interested listeners on five continents.

A Methodist preacher's son, Picazo graduated from the University of New Mexico with a BS Degree in electrical engineering. Following graduate work at John Brown University, he worked several years at a radio station in Kentucky before beginning his special ministry in Haiti.

Muny Court Hears 30 Cases

Traffic cases involving three local residents and 27 out-of-county residents were heard by Judge Sterling Lamb in Municipal Court Thursday.

Beverly A. Rhoads, 28, of 320 Nicholas Drive, pleaded guilty to charges of disobeying a stop sign. She was fined $15 plus costs, with the fine suspended.

Barbara Smith, 18, was charged with driving an unsafe vehicle, to which she pleaded guilty. She was fined $15 plus costs.

Patricia Meno, Route 3, pleaded guilty to the charge of driving a car with expired tags. She was fined $25 plus costs, with $10 of the fine suspended.

The court collected $567 in fines and bond forfeitures from out of county motorists.

Two Bound to Jury

Donald Hashman, 736 Maplewood Ave., and Donald Kerns, 810 S. Scioto St., both pleaded no contest in Municipal Court Thursday to charges of attempted theft at Landrama on W. Main St.

The duo was bound to the Grand Jury under $1500 bond each.

Strike Ended

4 County Burglaries Are Solved

Four recent Pickaway County burglaries were solved early today with the apprehension of four persons by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Deputy Warren Straley.

Nearly all the furnishings taken from the homes of John Newton, New Holland; Carol Lewis, near Williamsport; Robert Waldner, who lives on the Hornbeck-Garver Road and a home located just south of the Pickaway-Ross Twp. Line, have been recovered.

Taken into custody by the sheriff were Dorsey Montgomery, 22, and Ethel Fowler, 27, both of Williamsport; Gary Van Sickle, 22, and his wife, Rosemary, 30, of Route 1, New Holland.

They will be charged with grand larceny and with breaking and entering Sheriff Radcliff said.

IN addition to the burglaries in which they have been implicated in Pickaway County, the quartet is also believed involved in household goods thefts in Ross County.

Sheriff Radcliff said that all of the furnishings were recovered because the two couples were using the stolen articles to furnish their homes.

According to the sheriff, neither Montgomery nor Van Sickle were regularly employed. The sheriff estimated the value of recovered articles at well over $1,000. He termed it one of the largest recoveries of a stolen property made by his staff.

The sheriff noted that he and Deputy Straley had been working on the burglaries for a lengthy period of time.

The four persons readily admitted to the thefts when questioned by the sheriff.

Capital Footnotes

A 10 per cent decrease in the number of local government units over the last five years has been reported by the U.S. Census Bureau. Most of the decrease was due to school reorganizations and consolidations. Increases were noted in special districts, such as water supply, flood control and oil conservation.

Capital Quote

"These wretched few can no longer be tolerated. They must be held in check and when necessary, be brought to justice legally but firmly by the scruff of their collective necks."—A joint statement by Republican congressional leaders praising those antiwar protesters who demonstrated peacefully at the Lincoln Memorial and condemning those who engaged in violence at the Pentagon.

Cincy Set For Arrival Of Reagan

CINCINNATI (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan is coming to Cincinnati today mainly to provide "a shot in the arm" for the local Republican municipal slate, officials say.

Reagan, considered a prospect for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, will hold a news conference, appear at a $25-a-plate fund raising dinner, and then deliver the keynote address at a Republican rally.

He is scheduled to arrive at 4 p.m.

John Hermanies, chairman of the rally committee, recently said that his office had received over 17,000 requests for tickets to attend the rally at Cincinnati's new Convention Hall.

The rally will be held in a 12,000-seat auditorium, but Hermanies said standing room would probably be available.

"Months ago we had decided to get someone such as Reagan here prior to the election with the idea that the campaign looked as tight as this one locally," a Republican source said.

"We could use a shot in the arm," the source said.

Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes will introduce Reagan at the rally.

Two Women Hurt in Crash

Two area women were hurt slightly in a two car collision that occurred at the east end of the Red River Bridge 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment of injuries were Linda G'nyd, 19, Route 3, the driver of one of the cars, and Opal Brown, 46, a passenger in the other.

Driver of the other car was Wayne Hartman, 58, Ashville.

Mrs. Gloyd said she took her eyes from the road for an instant and went back to center to the path of the Hartman vehicle.

Arraignment Held In Common Pleas Court

Harold Temple, indicted by the September Grand Jury for Grand larceny was arraigned today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Temple requested time to secure counsel before entering a plea. Probate Judge Guy Cline, acting in the absence of Judge William Ammer, continued the case and set bond at $1,000.

Berger Employee Retires After 37 Years' Service

By BETTY DAWLEY Herald Staff Writer

As of Wednesday, Wes Nibert will be a retired employee of Berger Hospital, a structure he helped build.

During the depression years, Nibert was employed by a Columbus contractor engaged to build the hospital. At the suggestion of his employer and on his recommendation, Wes applied for and was given the job of janitor in the new building. He was then in the employ of the City of Circleville, hired to tend the building until it was ready for occupancy.

June 1, 1930, the hospital opened its doors to receive the first patients for admittance with Mr. Nibert on the payroll. To classify his employment would be an impossible task. The first years of the hospital's operation Wes was called upon to do everything but administer either or perform surgery.

Opening day was vividly recalled with three surgical operations scheduled, two of which were completed. Wes delivered the patients to the operating room, attended in the operating room, returned the patients to their rooms after surgery and kept vigil at the bedside during recovery. Hospitals did not contain a post-operative or recovery room at that time, he recalled.

False Info Case Heard

Gary Nelson Webb, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Thursday to charges of rendering false information to the sheriff concerning the death of James Bowsher, and of stealing electric company line equipment.

Webb and the deceased James Bowsher were attempting to steal electric wire from South Central Power Company when Bowsher cut a "live" wire and was electrocuted.

In attempting to cover his part in the theft, Webb gave false information to the sheriff's department concerning the place and cause of Bowsher's death.

Webb was fined $100 and costs plus 90 days in jail by Judge Sterling Lamb for giving the sheriff's office false information. The jail sentence was suspended with Webb to remain on probation for three years.

On the charges of aiding and abetting Bowsher in stealing line equipment Webb was sentenced to 15 days in jail plus a fine of $50 and costs. The jail sentence was suspended on the condition that restitution be made.

Deaths

MR. RALPH BUTTS

Services for Mr. Ralph Butts, 114 Watt St., who died Wednesday in Berger Hospital, will be 1 p.m. Saturday in the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home with burial in Tarlton Cemetery. Rev. Eugene Flowers will officiate.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

MRS. WILDA BRUDER

Mrs. Wilda (Billie) Bruder, 47, died in her home in Indianapolis, Ind. Thursday morning.

Born Feb. 2, 1920, she was the daughter of Charles and Delpha Jacobs Estep. She lived the greater part of her life in New Holland and Atlanta communities.

She is survived by her husband, William Bruder. Other survivors include: one son, Nicholas O'Dierno, Washington C.H.; her mother, Mrs. Delpha Christian, Circleville; two brothers, Howard Estep of Los Angeles, Calif., and John Christian, 148 W. High St.; three sisters, Mrs. Betty Lowery of Marion, Mrs. Wanda Duffinger of Washington C.H., and Patty Jo Christian of Kingston.

Services will be 2 p.m. Sunday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with burial in New Holland Cemetery.

Friends may call after 2 p.m. at the funeral home.

WESLEY NIBERT

Wes does not wish any pomp or ceremony. In un-maudlin voice he says, "I have given the best of service to the organization and am looking forward to retirement."

Wes will be acutely missed at Berger Hospital. One office employee said, "He was always seen, but never heard. He will be missed", a statement voicing the opinion of the entire hospital staff.

Nibert resides at 573 E. Franklin St.

A WORKING day in 1930 was a 12-hour day. Wes was such an integral part of the hospital that he was working the required 12 hours each day and was subject to call 24 hours. Any emergency case brought into the building meant an SOS for Wes.

By June 1967 Wes, at 68, had given 37 years of service to the hospital. The first 15 years, only 17 days of absenteeism for sick leave prevented him from being on the job. Later, an accident caused him to take a leave. Since that time, Wes recalls having had no sick leave from employment. A fine record and one of the reasons why members of the Berger Staff say, "He is the most loyal of employees."

He wears a tag identifying him as store room clerk. He is that and a maintenance man, engineer and all around errand boy. This is accomplished in a conscientious, courteous and quiet manner.

He has remained at his work an additional two years after reaching retirement age at the request of the Hospital Board. This year, however, he admits to "being tired and wanting a much-needed rest."

When retirement day arrives,

Thursday was Lt. Cmdr. John Sydney McCain, apparently the son of Vice Adm. John S. McCain Jr., the U.S. Navy commander in chief in Europe, and the grandson of one of the Navy's greatest carrier task force commanders in World War II. Adm. McCain said at his headquarters in London he had been notified his son was missing over North Vietnam.

Hanoi said McCain was hit in the leg when his Phantom jet was "blasted down by a ground-to-air missile before it could strike."

In the ground action north of Saigon, troops of the 88th North Vietnamese regiment attacked across minefields after midnight after laying down heavy mortar barrages on the South Vietnamese positions and a nearby refugee hamlet.

They were thrown back three times in five hours from the barbed wire perimeter around a battalion of South Vietnam's 5th Infantry Division.

The government troops captured 73 weapons, including 17 machine guns and rocket launchers and three rarely seen enemy flamethrowers. South Vietnamese casualties officially were termed light, and unofficial reports from the battle area said 12 government soldiers were killed and 24 wounded.

The fighting broke off just before daybreak.

Fast-firing U.S. gunship helicopters, American and Vietnamese tactical bombers and Vietnamese artillery supported the infantrymen. A spokesman said Vietnamese artillery batteries fired 2,000 rounds.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Rain spread across Northern Ohio Thursday night and early this morning and some showers were reported in the southwestern portions of the state. Causing the weather was an intensifying low pressure center located early this morning in west central Indiana.

A cold high pressure system building over the Canadian prairies will push southeast following the low, bringing cold winds and snow flurries across the Great Lakes tonight and Saturday.

Temperatures early today ranged from around the 40-degree mark in the rain areas of northwestern Ohio to the lower 50s in the Ohio River Valley.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Mostly cloudy and colder with occasional showers or snow flurries tonight, lows 28-35. Variable cloudiness and colder. Saturday with occasional snow flurries mostly near Great Lakes.

CENTRAL OHIO — Turning cooler by afternoon or evening. Cloudy and cooler tonight with chance of few showers or snow flurries. Low tonight in mid 30s. Saturday cloudy and cooler.

SOUTHEAST OHIO—Showers and turning cooler tonight, low 35-40. Saturday cloudy and cooler.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO — Mostly cloudy with showers or snow flurries and colder tonight and Saturday. Lows tonight in 50s. Highs Saturday lower 40s.

SOUTHWEST OHIO—Tonight cloudy with occasional light showers or snow flurries and colder, low 30-35. Saturday considerable cloudiness and cooler.

McCarthy Wants Rusk To Quit

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Calling for the "quiet resignation" of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.S. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., says top Democrats should oppose President Johnson in the 1968 presidential primaries unless there is "significant improvement in the Vietnam war picture."

The statement to about 1,000 persons Thursday on the University of California campus at Berkeley was greeted with standing applause.

A Rusk resignation, he said, would "indicate at least a possibility of change" in the administration's foreign policy.

McCarthy is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Rhodes Approves Poverty Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes has approved a $1,047,218 federal grant to continue nine anti-poverty projects in six counties of the Miami Valley.

Immediate release has been made of $261,897 to finance projects of the Supporting Council of Preventative Effort through next month in Darke, Greene, Miami, Montgomery, Preble and Warren counties. Other funds remain subject to congressional approval.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Today's Navy Day and Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., has succeeded in getting Navy bean soup on the Senate menu alongside the traditional Senate bean soup.

Senate restaurant manager Joseph K. Diamond said the Navy bean soup will go on the menu for the first time ever as far as he knows as a result of Percy's Senate-floor appeal last week.

Percy—a Navy lieutenant during World War II—assured the Senate his appeal on behalf of the Navy soup meant no disrespect for the Senate's own famous bean soup.

"Without Senate bean soup to support this body during the long winter session, I shudder to think where the nation might be today," he said.

"But I would hope that for at least this one day there would be room on the menu for two bean soups."

There is.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organizations represented at the National Conference for New Politics in Chicago in September are being investigated by the staff of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

Subcommittee sources said it does not have the funds to probe all of the 200 organizations which took part, but that much information already is being gathered.

The new politics group, said Chairman James O. Eastland in a recent Senate speech, "is working hand in glove with the Communist party" to promote revolution.

The subcommittee's action was denounced by Joseph L. Rauh, vice chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, as "an affront to the Senate and a vote of no confidence in our Democratic political processes."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because many rioters want to overturn the government or institutions of society their actions are subversive on their face, a Baltimore lecturer on mob psychology has told the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Herman K. Lerner cited speeches by H. Rap Brown and Stokely Carmichael, the present and former chairmen of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, threatening to "burn down the nation."

Capital Footnotes

A 10 per cent decrease in the number of local government units over the last five years has been reported by the U.S. Census Bureau. Most of the decrease was due to school reorganizations and consolidations. Increases were noted in special districts, such as water supply, flood control and oil conservation.

Capital Quote

"These wretched few can no longer be tolerated. They must be held in check and when necessary, be brought to justice legally but firmly by the scruff of their collective necks."—A joint statement by Republican congressional leaders praising those antiwar protesters who demonstrated peacefully at the Lincoln Memorial and condemning those who engaged in violence at the Pentagon.

Muny Court Hears 30 Cases

Traffic cases involving three local residents and 27 out-of-county residents were heard by Judge Sterling Lamb in Municipal Court Thursday.

Beverly A. Rhoads, 23, of 320 Nicholas Drive, pleaded guilty to charges of disobeying a stop sign. She was fined $15 plus costs, with the fine suspended.

Barbara Smith, 18, was charged with driving an unsafe vehicle, to which she pleaded guilty. She was fined $15 plus costs.

Patricia Meno, Route 3, pleaded guilty to the charge of driving a car with expired tags. She was fined $25 plus costs, with $10 of the fine suspended.

The court set $567 in fines and bond forfeitures from out of county motorists.

Two Bound to Jury

Donald Hashman, 736 Maplewood Ave., and Donald Kerns, 810 S. Scioto St., both pleaded no contest in Municipal Court Thursday to charges of attempted theft at Lauderama on W. Main St.

The duo was bound to the Grand Jury under $1500 bond each.

Two Women Hurt in Crash

Two area women were hurt slightly in a two car collision that occurred at the east end of the Red River Bridge 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment of injuries were Linda G'nyd, 19, Route 3, the driver of one of the cars, and Opal Brown, 46, a passenger in the other.

Driver of the other car was Wayne Hartman, 58, Ashville.

Mrs. Gloyd said she took her eyes from the road for an instant and went back to center in the path of the Hartman vehicle.

Strike Ended

LONDON (AP)—Six thousand Liverpool longshoremen called off their wildcat six-week-old wage strike today and voted to return to work Monday.

The strike had tied up 109 ships and held up exports worth millions of dollars.

CHS OPEN HOUSE — An estimated 75 parents attended the Circleville High School open house Thursday. Those who attended heard Robert Brehmer Jr. explain the need for the proposed 2.8 mill levy, and Paul Sarchet, CHS principal, outline the evening's programs. Parents followed their children's schedule through four 20-minute periods. Shown in the photo are parents in Sandra Hodge's math class.

Australian Land Promotion Labeled Fraudulent Scheme

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — "The search for wealth and the search for oil go hand in hand," the neatly mimeographed letter began.

It explained about oil discoveries in Australia and how investors might make a handsome profit—or lose everything. It suggested a "small investment" of $200 or perhaps $500.

Enclosed were colored maps of Australia, an order blank and a return envelope addressed to a post office box in Freeport, Bahama Islands.

At the request of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Post Office Department has now labeled the effort fraudulent. The department issued a foreign postal fraud order Thursday.

Vets, Widows May Receive Added Funds

Veterans receiving total non-service connected pensions and veteran's widows who are receiving death pension benefits may be entitled to additional funds, according to James Shea, county veteran service officer.

The new Veterans Pension and Readjustment Act of 1967 provides increases of $100 a month to veterans receiving total non-service connected pensions if they are in nursing homes or are so seriously disabled as to require the aid of an attendant. The new law also provides increases to "housebound" veterans receiving benefits under the old pension law. The increase is $21.25 a month.

Widows who are receiving benefits because of the non-service connected death of their husbands may be entitled to an increase of $50 per month if they are so disabled as to require the assistance of an aide, or if they are a patient of a nursing home.

Veterans and widows interested in additional information about these benefits are advised by the Veteran's Service Officer to contact the Pickaway County Veterans Office located in the court house.

The SEC said the company, Simpson-McArthur Ltd., is trying to sell securities in the United States without registering them with the government as required by law. Officials called the literature issued by the firm typical of the illegal appeals for money by some operators in the Bahamas, Panama and Canada.

The fraud order means any mail addressed to Simpson-McArthur at the Freeport post office box will be stamped fraudulent and returned to the sender.

This type order does not give the department authority to intercept mail entering the country.

The SEC began its investigation several weeks ago when it received the company's literature from a private citizen and at first officials considered slapping the company's name on the foreign blacklist.

But because of the technical and unusual nature of this case—the company was selling undivided overriding royalties in an Australian oil concession

Ask Outside Aid In Gary Election

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor A. Martin Katz and Richard C. Hatcher, the Negro attorney who beat Katz in the Democratic primary, are seeking outside help to keep peace in the Nov. 7 municipal election.

Nominee Hatcher asked federal intervention Thursday for "this terribly desperate situation." Hatcher, who lacks the backing of Lake County Democratic Chairman John Krupa, told a news conference, "I'm going to be cheated out of victory."

Hatcher said certain prominent election officials are engaged in "massive fraudulent registrations in white areas in order to steal the election."

Katz met with Gov. Roger D. Branigin, also a Democrat, in Indianapolis, but both declined to say what plans were made for Nov. 7.

Hatcher said election officials are disenfranchising thousands of Negroes who are registered and qualified. He said the scheme involves about 200 persons.

Local Grange Youth Places In Contest

Doyle Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Route 1, Kingston, earned the second runner-up position in the state Prince and Princess Contest held during the convention of Ohio State Granges in Akron this past week.

Miller is a student at Ohio State University and is a 1967 graduate of Logan Elm High School. He has been a member of the Grange for less than a year and in this short time has become active in the youth division of the organization. He performed with the winning drill team for the Ohio State Granges, attended the Grange youth camps, participated in the one act play contest, and won the district reading contest.

The Prince and Princess Contest is but one activity in the youth division of Grange work. Each year counties send candidates to the state finals held during the state convention. At this convention a test is administered to all candidates on the working of the Grange and current events concerning the organization. At the contest this year 56 boys and 60 girls took part in the test and pageant.

Doyle succeeds Greg Fraunfeller who was Prince of Pickaway County in 1966, and Paul Dunkle who won the state title in 1965. All three young men are members of Salt Creek Valley Grange.

28 Grangers Attend State Convention

Twenty-eight Pickaway County Grange members attended the 95th Annual Session of the Ohio State Grange in Akron.

The Pickaway County Drill team was honored as the state winners in the drill competition during a luncheon.

During the afternoon the visitors viewed the displays and were able to witness the performance of winning Grange teams throughout the state.

The evening program was held in Memorial Hall on the campus of Akron University. First on the program was the Youth Pageant and the Talent Festival in charge of the youth department of the Ohio State Grange. Following this was the exemplification of the Sixth Degree which was given to over 500 Grangers, part of them being the delegation from Pickaway County. Paul Dunkle served as pianist for the Youth and was vocal soloist for the Sixth Degree.

All Granges in the county were represented at the convention.

Others attending from Pickaway County convention were: State Secretary John Dowler, and Mrs. Dowler; Barbara McKenzie and Thelma Hines, secretaries to state officers; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters, committee members; Doyle Miller and Debbie Archer, Pickaway County Prince and Princess; and Jerry Rasor, a member of sixth degree team.

Romney, Reagan, Wallace on Tour

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Barry Goldwater urged his fellow Arizonans not to seek revenge against Michigan Gov. George Romney, who refused to back Goldwater's bid for the presidency in 1964.

But if that statement pleased Romney, an undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nod next year, Goldwater's next utterance must have been slightly painful.

"I'm backing Dick Nixon," Goldwater suddenly declared Thursday at a gathering of Arizona Republicans before whom Romney spoke.

While Goldwater has said many times before that he favors former Vice President Richard M. Nixon as the party nominee, it was the first time he'd said it in Romney's presence and threw a new roadblock into the Michigan governor's efforts to woo Republican conservatives.

Romney's invasion of Goldwater country coincided with California Gov. Ronald Reagan's move into President Johnson's home territory of Texas and George Wallace's jaunt to the Far West.

Reagan, introduced at a GOP fund raising dinner in Dallas as "the man who may be the next president of the U.S.," declared that idea, "scare me to death."

He again said he is not seeking the job, but declined to discount his availability for a draft.

Texas Republicans in Dallas and Houston cheered Reagan's attack on the Johnson administration's fiscal policies and his recital of the economies he has put into effect as California's governor.

His appearances at $100-a-plate affairs in the two cities earned an estimated $160,000 for the Texas Republican party.

It was speculated the Californian's trip to Texas would start a Reagan-for-president boom there and Texas GOP Chairman Peter O'Donnell did nothing to squelch such talk.

Romney had his own ideas about Reagan's plans. Asked by newsmen if he thinks Reagan is running, Romney answered: "Yes—hard."

Wallace, former Alabama governor whose wife now occupies that post, gave further indications he'll wage a third party race against the Democratic and Republican nominees in 1968.

Wallace said neither Reagan nor Nixon, favored currently by GOP conservatives, fit his notion of what a conservative candidate should stand for. He long ago declared himself opposed to fellow Democrat Johnson.

"We will be ready if the Democrats and Republicans don't offer the man in the street a choice," Wallace said of his plans. "My purpose in coming west is to help set up the machinery for my candidacy if it becomes necessary to run."

He spoke in Reno, Nev., first stop in a 10-day tour that also will take him to Oregon, Washington and New Mexico.

Cedarville Gets Student Firemen

CEDARVILLE, Ohio (AP) — About 25 students of Cedarville College are going to become firefighters.

Alpha Chi, a men's literary society, announced Thursday night a service project to provide volunteer fire protection for the small college, the community and surrounding area.

The men are being trained, and are attempting to equip a 1938 pumper donated to the school by Ralph Wenrick, a Springfield construction company owner.

The unite will cooperate with the local volunteer department headed by Chief Robert Denney.

The students will be excused from classes in case of fire.

CHS OPEN HOUSE — An estimated 75 parents attended the Circleville High School open house Thursday. Those who attended heard Robert Brehmer Jr. explain the need for the proposed 2.8 mill levy, and Paul Sarchet, CHS principal, outline the evening's programs. Parents followed their children's schedule through four 20-minute periods. Shown in the photo are parents in Sandra Hodge's math class.

Australian Land Promotion Labeled Fraudulent Scheme

By JOSEPH R. COVNE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — "The search for wealth and the search for oil go hand in hand," the neatly mimeographed letter began.

It explained about oil discoveries in Australia and how investors might make a handsome profit—or lose everything. It suggested a "small investment" of $200 or perhaps $500.

Enclosed were colored maps of Australia, an order blank and a return envelope addressed to a post office box in Freeport, Bahamas Islands.

At the request of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Post Office Department has now labeled the effort fraudulent. The department issued a foreign postal fraud order Thursday.

Vets, Widows May Receive Added Funds

Veterans receiving total non-service connected pensions and veteran's widows who are receiving death pension benefits may be entitled to additional funds, according to James Shea, county veteran service officer.

The new Veterans Pension and Readjustment Act of 1967 provides increases of $100 a month to veterans receiving total non-service connected pensions if they are in nursing homes or are so seriously disabled as to require the aid of an attendant.

The new law also provides increases to "housebound" veterans receiving benefits under the old pension law. The increase is $21.25 a month.

Widows who are receiving benefits because of the non-service connected death of their husbands may be entitled to an increase of $50 per month if they are so disabled as to require the assistance of an aide, or if they are a patient of a nursing home.

Veterans and widows interested in additional information about these benefits are advised by the Veteran's Service Officer to contact the Pickaway County Veterans Office located in the court house.

The SEC said the company, Simpson-McArthur Ltd., is trying to sell securities in the United States without registering them with the government as required by law. Officials called the literature issued by the firm typical of the illegal appeals for money by some operators in the Bahamas, Panama and Canada.

The fraud order means any mail addressed to Simpson-McArthur at the Freeport post office box will be stamped fraudulent and returned to the sender.

This type order does not give the department authority to intercept mail entering the country.

The SEC began its investigation several weeks ago when it received the company's literature from a private citizen and at first officials considered slapping the company's name on the foreign blacklist.

But because of the technical and unusual nature of this case—the company was selling undivided overriding royalties in an Australian oil concession

Ask Outside Aid In Gary Election

GARY, Ind. (AP) — Mayor A. Martin Katz and Richard C. Hatcher, the Negro attorney who beat Katz in the Democratic primary, are seeking outside help to keep peace in the Nov. 7 municipal election.

Nominee Hatcher asked federal intervention Thursday for "this terribly desperate situation." Hatcher, who lacks the backing of Lake County Democratic Chairman John Krupa, told a news conference, "I'm going to be cheated out of victory."

Hatcher said certain prominent election officials are engaged in "massive fraudulent registrations in white areas in order to steal the election."

Katz met with Gov. Roger D. Branigin, also a Democrat, in Indianapolis, but both declined to say what plans were made for Nov. 7.

Hatcher said election officials are disenfranchising thousands of Negroes who are registered and qualified. He said the scheme involves about 200 persons.

Local Grange Youth Places In Contest

Doyle Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Route 1, Kingston, earned the second runner-up position in the state Prince and Princess Contest held during the convention of Ohio State Granges in Akron this past week.

Miller is a student at Ohio State University and is a 1967 graduate of Logan Elm High School. He has been a member of the Grange for less than a year and in this short time has become active in the youth division of the organization. He performed with the winning drill team for the Ohio State Granges, attended the Grange youth camps, participated in the one act play contest, and won the district reading contest.

The Prince and Princess Contest is but one activity in the youth division of Grange work. Each year counties send candidates to the state finals held during the state convention. At this convention a test is administered to all candidates on the working of the Grange and current events concerning the organization. At the contest this year 56 boys and 60 girls took part in the test and pageant.

Doyle succeeds Greg Fraumfelter who was Prince of Pickaway County in 1966, and Paul Dunkle who won the state title in 1965. All three young men are members of Saltcreek Valley Grange.

28 Grangers Attend State Convention

Twenty-eight Pickaway County Grange members attended the 95th Annual Session of the Ohio State Grange in Akron.

The Pickaway County Drill team was honored as the state winners in the drill competition during a luncheon.

During the afternoon the visitors viewed the displays and were able to witness the performance of winning Grange teams throughout the state.

The evening program was held in Memorial Hall on the campus of Akron University. First on the program was the Youth Pageant and the Talent Festival in charge of the youth department of the Ohio State Grange. Following this was the exemplification of the Sixth Degree which was given to over 500 Grangers, part of them being the delegation from Pickaway County. Paul Dunkle served as pianist for the Youth and was vocal soloist for the Sixth Degree.

All Granges in the county were represented at the convention. Others attending from Pickaway County convention were: State Secretary John Dowler, and Mrs. Dowler; Barbara McKenzie and Thelma Hines, secretaries to state officers; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters, committee members; Doyle Miller and Debbie Archer, Pickaway County Prince and Princess; and Jerry Raso, a member of sixth degree team.

Romney, Regan, Wallace on Tour

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Barry Goldwater urged his fellow Arizonans not to seek revenge against Michigan Gov. George Romney, who refused to back Goldwater's bid for the presidency in 1964.

But if that statement pleased Romney, an undeclared candidate for the Republican presidential nod next year, Goldwater's next utterance must have been slightly painful.

"I'm backing Dick Nixon," Goldwater suddenly declared Thursday at a gathering of Arizona Republicans before whom Romney spoke.

Revolutionary Thought

From out of the so-what's - new department the other day came a lament from Walter Weir that what television commercials need most today is the ability to speak the language of a child. Mr. Weir is president of an advertising agency and, like most professionals, worries from time to time that maybe his profession isn't reaching quite as far into the heights of perfection as it should.

What particularly concerns Mr. Weir is that people seem to be losing the ability to communicate with one another, or at least to the extent of not believing or retaining what they hear. "We are," he says, "destroying our greatest resource — the capacity of human beings to hear and be interested in, retain and believe what we say." Syncretic research which is described as seeking "a type of thinking characteristic of young children," is offered as the antidote. That is, instead of beating around the bush or using words which disguise the meaning intended, use the straightforward language of a six - or eight-year-old.

How refreshing it is to converse with a small child who has not yet learned the ruse of a double meaning or innuendo. Sometimes the outpouring contains some surprises, but always the logic is clean and unencumbered.

How such an approach in television commercials would be received after years of a far different fare is anybody's guess. The change might do more than excite a few electrons.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is to have an unforgettable face.

It is particularly a nuisance if your unforgettable face is continually being remembered by people who never saw it before.

This has been my doom for some years now. I am continually being mistaken for someone else and having to apologize lamely for not being that someone else.

I am left with a vague feeling of guilt because I'm me.

Why I should remind so many people of somebody else is something I have never been able to figure out. I have a time - beaten visage of established vintage and a shape like a contented hourglass. Perhaps the explanation is that, if you've seen one middle-aged fat man with a receding hairline, you've seen them all—or think you have.

One of the things about being mistaken for someone else that disturbs my vanity is the kind of character I am mistaken for.

No one says to me, "Oh, sorry. I thought you were Rock Hudson."

Or, "Well, Nelson, if you change your mind and decide to try for the White House, you can count on my vote."

Oh, no. Not me. They don't even mistake me for the prisoner of Zenda, or the guy in the iron mask. I am not even mistaken for any of the "10 most-wanted men" whose fugitive features are tacked up in the local post office.

I am generally mistaken for the man who sold them a used car in Dubuque, the guy who hasn't been doing so well in real estate in Arizona, or that funny-looking fellow—what WAS his name?—who once sat behind them in study hall in high school in Omaha.

It is bad enough to be mistaken for someone else by men I've never encountered before. What is worse is how I am constantly being mistaken by strange women.

They are never gloriously young and blonde and desiring. They are invariably near-sighted, demanding, testy, tempered, and showing definite hallmarks of being older than they used to be.

They say things like: "Well, I've been waiting here for hours for you to show up. Where in heaven's name have you been?" "Here, you hold the baby—I'm tired."

And then they exclaim, "Oh, I thought you were my husband!" and glare at me in mute but furious accusation.

Now and then I get a puzzled feeling myself that I am someone I have met before.

Sometimes, when shaving in the morning, I look in the mirror and say to myself, "Excuse me, the fuzz is familiar, but aren't you the boy I used to know—or are you his father?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE SALES MANAGER, launched upon a fervent pep talk to his non-responsive crew, insisted, "When I was the age of you pups, I put in sixteen hours a day on the road and thought nothing of it." "Boss," spoke up one young salesman, "I don't think much of it either."

A new batch of draftees lined up to receive equipment and uniforms at an Army encampment, and a grizzled sergeant was looking the boys over with a jaundiced eye. Suddenly he spotted one youth in the rear row, sporting cerise slacks, a Hawaiian sport shirt, and, so help me, a pair of earrings shining in the midday sun.

The sergeant turned away in disgust, mumbling, "Blast it all! He's not even a civilian!"

"Poets," observes Burton Hillis, "are wont to compare spring air to wine—but the way we've been polluting the atmosphere these days, I venture to say that 1967 will not exactly go down as a vintage year!"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a confession to make. I have just returned from the doctor's office and absolutely forgot his explanation and instructions he gave me. I feel very foolish because I don't know what to tell my husband and I'm too embarrassed to call my doctor and have him repeat what he told me.

I know I have a cyst of the ovary and want to know if this is or can become cancerous.

Mrs. C. Y., George Dear Mrs. Y.: Your letter cannot be considered as confidential. Actually, you are saying that which physicians all over the country experience every day in their practice.

Before I explain why this is so common let me first assure you that a cyst of the ovary is not malignant. Changes do occur in size and character and it is for this reason that doctors suggest repeated and regular examinations in order to follow the condition.

Your concern that it might be a cancer undoubtedly had been increasing for weeks before you consulted your doctor. This is not unusual.

When you finally presented yourself at his office I am certain that you were breathless, teary and probably perspired freely. This is the typical picture of anxiety.

I once made the observation that new patients usually sat at the edge of their chair when first they consulted me. It was only later when their fears were assuaged that they actually took a deep breath, leaned back in the chair and comfortably listened to my instructions.

As a mature adult you can call your doctor, who will understand that your original anxiety confused your listening ability. You then can ask the questions and write down the answers so that you can repeat them to your husband who, too, must be concerned.

Many patients, wisely, write out their complaints and questions. If they are not all answered by the doctor they then can be asked.

In a similar way it is wise to write down in your own handwriting the doctor's instructions. The chances are that you can read your writing better than his.

There truly is no real reason for your embarrassment. It has happened to me as a patient.

Every few days I notice that my 8-year-old son has some blood in his urine. It disappears so quickly that I almost forget about it until it happens again.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson at this moment is like a man in a full-dress suit who suddenly walked under a cold shower. But that doesn't mean he is going to drown.

Although attired in all the trappings and power of the presidency, Johnson is being drenched in a flood of criticism and dissent about the war in Vietnam and his handling of it. He did not pay much attention to the criticism a couple of years ago when it was just getting under way. He considered his critics in those days a very small percentage of the population.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

It's easy to be for the Circleville City School's Operating Levy. When we cast our ballots, we will be answering this question — Do we wish Circleville to operate its own schools?

This is really the issue we will be voting on Nov. 7th. The decision is now whether Circleville wishes to maintain an independent school district or be placed by the state in another school district. If we are placed in an other district, we must pay the operating levies of the district in which we are placed. In any bordering school district that operating levy would range from 3 to 6 additional mills. Our board is merely asking our approval of 2.8 mills.

It's easy to see that approval of this levy will cost us less and we will continue to operate our own schools. The state requires that a minimum 17.5 mills for operating expenses must be supplied locally in order to receive state foundation funds. Our present operating effort is 16.5 mills and the additional 2.8 mills will be adequate to meet the state requirement. The state supplies almost 50 per cent of our operating expense money. Imagine what would happen to our schools if we were to lose that money!

In the light of these facts, surely we voters will cast an affirmative vote for the levy and keep Circleville an independent school system.

A famous professional cage star is to be paid a reported $250,000 for this season's play. A case of putting a lot of eggs (golden) in one kind of basket?

Ten Jap kids, ages 5 to 15, visit the U.S. on a violin-playing trip. THIS is a good - will tour?!!

The man at the next desk reports that on Friday, Oct. 13 he happened to run across the word "triskedecaphobia" and he decided to look it up. However, he didn't find out what it meant until today—it's "fear of the number 13." And, boy, is he relieved!

The elephant featured in a new television series should be making all other TV performers jealous. He's, naturally, the biggest star of 'em all.

The leading newspaper of Madrid, Spain, has the unique name of ABC. Must be mighty easy to read.

The picture has changed dramatically. The most recent Gallup public opinion poll reports that 46 per cent of the people questioned look upon American involvement in the war as a mistake. A similar poll in August 19 showed only 24 per cent felt that way.

In this latest poll only 44 per cent said they did not think it was a mistake to send troops into Vietnam. Ten per cent had no opinion.

If the disillusionment continues to climb—and the war isn't ended—by the time the 1968 election year begins, Johnson's chances for re-election or even for renomination may seem dim, indeed. But that's only maybe.

In the first place, by the time the Democrats and Republicans pick their presidential candidates next summer, there may have been a big change in the war, favorable to the United States. That would be a big boon for Johnson.

And it will be another break for him—even if the war is still going on next summer—if most of the Republicans now considered their party's most likely candidates keep on with the songs they are singing now about the war.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan want to make it far tougher. Michigan Gov. George Romney and Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy are all for a softer, slowed-down war.

If any one of those four gets the nomination, and is saying then what he is saying now, his nomination will in turn split the war critics of both parties who are fed up with Johnson.

Since they are also divided into hawks and doves the nomination of Romney or Percy would hardly be the ideal for the hawks. The same goes for the doves if Nixon or Reagan get the nomination.

Meanwhile two men—Johnson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—are following a middle course. Rockefeller is the fifth top Republican being mentioned for his party's nomination, although he says he wants no part of it.

Johnson has avoided the extreme of all-out war against North Vietnam, just as he has refused to soften the war. And Rockefeller is the only one of those top five Republicans who has no criticism of what Johnson is doing.

All he has said so far is that he thinks Johnson is doing the best he can. If Rockefeller changes his mind about not wanting the nomination, it won't be the first time. He bowed out of the 1960 race and then said he'd accept a draft.

If he has anything in mind like that now, he is playing a shrewd game. He has plenty of time before the 1968 nominating convention to see how the political winds on the war are blowing.

If then he decides to make a try publicly, he can take any position he wants without suffering the embarrassment that would engulf Nixon, Reagan, Romney or Percy if any of them tries to shift gears on the war.

There is dissension among the Democrats on the war and some of them already say they don't want Johnson in 1968. But they are under a handicap there.

It would be a great confession of error by the Democratic party in having picked Johnson at any time if it should refuse to renominate him in 1968. The party will have to do a lot of soul-searching before it tries that.

But, assuming Democrats make Johnson their choice again next year, the party critics who feel they can't vote for him will be in a dilemma, depending on whether they are doves or hawks, about which Republican to vote for, a dove or a hawk.

Meanwhile Johnson, because he knows all the inside stuff on the war not open to the Republicans, at this moment is probably in a better position than any candidate to know how the war will look by convention time, 1968.

Film Companies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ever hear of such film companies as Premiere, Claridge, Royal, Lopert, International Classics and Regional Film Distributors? Probably not. Yet such firms have released many important movies.

These companies are subsidiaries of the major film corporations, and their purpose is to release movie that are considered too "special" for general distribution. In many cases that means too censorable.

Some industry observers fear that subsidiaries will be used to make a mockery of the self-censorship code. The National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures has decried having such companies release films that cannot qualify for a code seal. But the practice seems well accepted in the industry.

The most notable case was Michaelangelo Antonioni's "Blowup." MGM had sponsored the film, then discovered it could not get a code seal, largely because of a nude romp of David Hemmings and two teen-agers. So MGM activated a subsidiary called Premiere Films to release the film.

"We did so because we thought the code office was wrong in this case," explained Clark Ramsay, new studio boss at MGM. "Our contract with Antonioni gave us the right to make certain cuts as ordered by the code; but we didn't feel they were warranted."

Ramsay added that there are no plans to use Premiere for future films. The release didn't hurt "Blowup," which has been a spectacular success at the box office.

United Artists has for several years used its Lopert subsidiary for film like "Never on Sunday" and "Tom Jones" which might have encountered censorship problems—both films are now considered so mild that they can be shown on television.

"The primary purpose of Lopert," explains Herb Jaffe, West Coast vice president of United Artists, "is to distribute foreign-language features and other films that do not appear to be mass entertainment. They require special handling on the art-house circuit, though some turn out to be popular with a wide audience and then are taken over by United Artists."

The Motion Picture Association, police of movie morals, has taken no stand on the subsidiaries. "They are not members of the association, so we have no control," says a spokesman.

But of course the parent companies comprise the association and they are not likely to act against themselves. That's why the subsidiaries will continue to be a back door to the nation's theaters for films that may not qualify for the usual entrance.

Nine cases of scarlet fever had been reported to the health offices by physicians. Seven of these were outside the city—six in Pickaway Twp. and one in Darby Twp. The schools of Pickaway were closed.

C. M. Leist of the Circleville Produce Co. exhibited a new breed of turkey in his window. The new fowl was a cross between a white turkey and a Rhode Island Red chicken. The turkeys were the property of S. O. Archer of Adelphi.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Barnhill, N. Court St. was entered by a burglar through a window in the dining room, which was left unfastened. The intruder, upon being discovered, made a hasty exit. Mr. Barnhill tried to find his revolver, but as usual in such a crisis, was unable to locate it.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, the matter of time parking in the streets was discussed. It was thought that the condition might be remedied by merchants and businessmen leaving their autos at home on Saturday nights and leave the parking places open for people who visit the city on the busiest day of the week.

A thief entered the R. M. Leach Motor Co. of E. Franklin St. and relieved Mr. Leach of a new Chrysler four - door sedan valued at $1,554.

A large crowd of Circleville football fans witnessed the defeat of the Circleville High School team by Chillicothe, 18 to 7. A special traction car carried the team and rooters to that city.

For millions of families that a lot of people are making a lot more than they are. But nobody likes to admit he is living less than moderately well. Now he must do so.

Factory income, of course, is only one measure of family income. In many families, for instance, both husband and wife work and their combined incomes put them well into the moderate income group.

Some breadwinners also hold more than one job. More families rent out parts of their houses. Some have inheritances. Some have working children. Others have one child or even none, and so their cost — taxes excluded — are lower.

Above all, most Americans are not factory workers. Of a labor force of more than 77 million, less than 20 million are factory production workers. The others are clerks, professionals, technicians, managers, proprietors, farmers, executives and so on. Their income often are higher.

Earlier this year the National Industrial Conference Board, a research organization, released survey results that showed 13 million families — more than one-fourth the total — had incomes exceeding $10,000.

Further along in its findings, incidentally, came a very significant piece of information: "An estimated one-third of all consumer buying is now represented by families which include a working wife."

With these higher incomes come more refined or demanding tastes. The $9,000-plus that the government says is needed for a city dweller to live moderately can really be scaled down depending upon what a family is willing to do without.

Moderate, as used to describe living standards today, is not the same word used 20 years ago. Most Americans who live less than moderately well, a measure by the new definition, still live materially well.

Group on Aging To Tour State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Administration on Aging wants more information from the people it serves.

The agency, an arm of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, has announced plans for sending a mobile unit around the state conducting forums for senior citizens seeking suggestions for improved service.

The first stop is scheduled for Aqua Nov. 9 for residents of Champaign, Miami and Darke counties.

Revolutionary Thought

From out of the so-what's - new department the other day came a lament from Walter Weir that what television commercials need most today is the ability to speak the language of a child. Mr. Weir is president of an advertising agency and, like most professionals, worries from time to time that maybe his profession isn't reaching quite as far into the heights of perfection as it should.

What particularly concerns Mr. Weir is that people seem to be losing the ability to communicate with one another, or at least to the extent of not believing or retaining what they hear. "We are," he says, "destroying our greatest resource — the capacity of human beings to hear and be interested in, retain and believe what we say."

Syncretic research which is described as seeking "a type of thinking characteristic of young children," is offered as the antidote. That is, instead of beating around the bush or using words which disguise the meaning intended, use the straightforward language of a six - or eight-year-old.

How refreshing it is to converse with a small child who has not yet learned the ruse of a double meaning or innuendo. Sometimes the outpouring contains some surprises, but always the logic is clean and unencumbered.

How such an approach in television commercials would be received after years of a far different fare is anybody's guess. The change might do more than excite a few electrons.

According to Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is to have an unforgettable face.

It is particularly a nuisance if your unforgettable face is continually being remembered by people who never saw it before.

This has been my doom for some years now. I am continually being mistaken for someone else and having to apologize lamely for not being that someone else.

I am left with a vague feeling of guilt because I'm me.

Why I should remind so many people of somebody else is something I have never been able to figure out. I have a time - beaten visage of established vintage and a shape like a contented hourglass. Perhaps the explanation is that, if you've seen one middle-aged fat man with a receding hairline, you've seen them all—or think you have.

One of the things about being mistaken for someone else that disturbs my vanity is the kind of character I am mistaken for.

No one says to me, "Oh, sorry, I thought you were Rock Hudson."

Or, "Well, Nelson, if you change your mind and decide to try for the White House, you can count on my vote."

Oh, no. Not me. They don't even mistake me for the prisoner of Zenda, or the guy in the iron mask. I am not even mistaken for any of the "10 most-wanted men" whose fugitive features are tacked up in the local post office.

I am generally mistaken for the man who sold them a used car in Dubuque, the guy who hasn't been doing so well in real estate in Arizona, or that funny-looking fellow—what WAS his name?—who once sat behind them in study hall in high school in Omaha.

It is bad enough to be mistaken for someone else by men I've never encountered before. What is worse is how I am constantly being mistaken by strange women.

They are never gloriously young and blonde and desiring. They are invariably near-sighted, demanding, testy-tempered, and showing definite hallmarks of being older than they used to be.

They say things like: "Well, I've been waiting here for hours for you to show up. Where in heaven's name have you been?" "Here, you hold the baby—I'm tired."

And then they exclaim, "Oh, I thought you were my husband!" and glare at me in mute but furious accusation.

Now and then I get a puzzled feeling myself that I am someone I have met before.

Sometimes, when shaving in the morning, I look in the mirror and say to myself, "Excuse me, the fuzz is familiar, but aren't you the boy I used to know—or are you his father?"

NEW YORK (AP) — The new measure of living standards announced this week by the government is going to be reflected sharply and immediately in relations between husbands and wives, and workers and employers.

Quarrels might be the first result as millions of workers realize they are living far below what the government calls a moderate way of life. Before the fights begin, however, it should be remembered that what is moderate now was really classy just 20 years ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics says an income of more than $9,000 a year is now needed for a city-dwelling husband, wife and two dependent children to live moderately well.

The average factory worker's weekly pay, by comparison, was only $123.30 in August, a rate that would give him a yearly pretax income of only $6,411.60. This is definitely less than moderate.

Less than moderate also is the median family income of about $7,000, meaning that about one-half of all families have incomes of less than that.

It also is no great discovery for millions of families that a lot of people are making a lot more than they are. But nobody likes to admit he is living less than moderately well. Now he must do so.

Factory income, of course, is only one measure of family income. In many families, for instance, both husband and wife work and their combined incomes put them well into the moderate income group.

THE SALES MANAGER, launched upon a fervent pep talk to his non-responsive crew, insisted, "When I was the age of you pups, I put in sixteen hours a day on the road and thought nothing of it." "Boss," spoke up one young salesman, "I don't think much of it either."

A new batch of draftees lined up to receive equipment and uniforms at an Army encampment, and a grizzled sergeant was looking the boys over with a jaundiced eye. Suddenly he spotted one youth in the rear row, sporting cerise slacks, a Hawaiian sport shirt, and, so help me, a pair of earrings shining in the midday sun.

The sergeant turned away in disgust, mumbling, "Blast it all! He's not even a civilian!"

"Poets," observes Burton Hillis, "are wont to compare spring air to wine—but the way we've been polluting the atmosphere here, I venture to say that 1967 will not exactly go down as a vintage year!"

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have a confession to make. I have just returned from the doctor's office and absolutely forgot his explanation and instructions he gave me. I feel very foolish because I don't know what to tell my husband and I'm too embarrassed to call my doctor and have him repeat what he told me.

I know I have a cyst of the ovary and want to know if this is or can become cancerous.

Mrs. C. Y., Georgie
Your letter cannot be considered as confidential. Actually, you are saying that which physicians all over the country experience every day in their practice.

Before I explain why this is so common let me first assure you that a cyst of the ovary is not malignant. Changes do occur in size and character and it is for this reason that doctors suggest repeated and regular examinations in order to follow the condition.

Your concern that it might be a cancer undoubtedly had been increasing for weeks before you consulted your doctor. This is not unusual.

When you finally presented yourself at his office I am certain that you were breathless, teary and probably perspired freely. This is the typical picture of anxiety.

I once made the observation that new patients usually sat at the edge of their chair when first they consulted me. It was only later when their fears were assuaged that they actually took a deep breath, leaned back in the chair and comfortably listened to my instructions.

As a mature adult you can call your doctor, who will understand that your original anxiety confused your listening ability. You then can ask the questions and write down the answers so that you can repeat them to your husband who, too, must be concerned.

Many patients, wisely, write out their complaints and questions. If they are not all answered by the doctor they then can be asked.

In a similar way it is wise to write down in your own handwriting the doctor's instructions. The chances are that you can read your writing better than his.

There truly is no real reason for your embarrassment. It has happened to me as a patient.

Every few days I notice that my 8-year-old son has some blood in his urine. It disappears so quickly that I almost forget about it until it happens again.

Is his a dangerous condition?

..... Mrs. R. J., Tennessee

Dear Mrs. J.:
When blood appears in the urine even a single time the exact cause should be sought. Certainly if it repeats itself even after a few days absence it is examination be made of the entire urinary tract.

There are many simple, unimportant reasons for blood in the urine. There can also be more serious ones. The bleeding may be an early symptom of infection, injury or even a tumor.

A general examination is usually sufficient to trace the cause. When the general physician needs a specialist' help he call on a urologist who can, with many instruments and specialized techniques, pinpoint the exact cause, treat it and cure it.

Good study habits need good lighting.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson at this moment is like a man in a full-dress suit who suddenly walked under a cold shower. But that doesn't mean he is going to drown.

Although attired in all the trappings and power of the presidency, Johnson is being drenched in a flood of criticism and dissent about the war in Vietnam and his handling of it.

He did not pay much attention to the criticism a couple of years ago when it was just getting under way. He considered his critics in those days a very small percentage of the population.

The picture has changed dramatically.

The most recent Gallup public opinion poll reports that 46 per cent of the people questioned look upon American involvement in the war as a mistake. A similar poll in August 19 showed only 24 per cent felt that way.

In this latest poll only 44 per cent said they did not think it was a mistake to send troops into Vietnam. Ten per cent had no opinion.

If the disillusionment continues to climb—and the war isn't ended—by the time the 1968 election year begins, Johnson's chances for re-election or even for renomination may seem dim, indeed. But that's only maybe.

In the first place, by the time the Democrats and Republicans pick their presidential candidates next summer, there may have been a big change in the war, favorable to the United States. That would be a big boon for Johnson.

And it will be another break for him—even if the war is still going on next summer—if most of the Republicans now considered their party's most likely candidates keep on with the songs they are singing now about the war.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan want to make it far tougher. Michigan Gov. George Romney and Illinois Sen. Charles H. Percy are all for a softer, slowed-down war.

If any one of those four gets the nomination, and is saying then what he is saying now, his nomination will in turn split the war critics of both parties who are fed up with Johnson.

Since they are also divided into hawks and doves the nomination of Romney or Percy would hardly be the ideal for the hawks. The same goes for the doves if Nixon or Reagan get the nomination.

Meanwhile two men—Johnson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—are following a middle course. Rockefeller is the fifth top Republican being mentioned for his party's nomination, although he says he has no part of it.

Johnson has avoided the extreme of all-out war against North Vietnam, just as he has refused to soften the war. And Rockefeller is the only one of those top five Republicans who has no criticism of what Johnson is doing.

All he has said so far is that he thinks Johnson is doing the best he can. If Rockefeller changes his mind about not wanting the nomination, it won't be the first time. He bowed out of the 1960 race and then said he'd accept a draft.

If he has anything in mind like that now, he is playing a shrewd game. He has plenty of time before the 1968 nominating convention to see how the political winds on the war are blowing.

If then he decides to make a try publicly, he can take any position he wants without suffering the embarrassment that would engulf Nixon, Reagan, Romney or Percy if any of them tries to shift gears on the war.

There is dissension among the Democrats on the war and some of them already say they don't want Johnson in 1968. But they are under a handicap there.

It would be a great confession of error by the Democratic party in having picked Johnson at any time if it should refuse to renominate him in 1968. The party will have to do a lot of soul-searching before it tries that.

But, assuming Democrats make Johnson their choice again next year, the party critics who feel they can't vote for him will be in a dilemma, depending on whether they are doves or hawks, about which Republican to vote for, a dove or a hawk.

Meanwhile Johnson, because he knows all the inside stuff on the war not open to the Republicans, at this moment is probably in a better position than any candidate to know how the war will look by convention time, 1968.

Film Companies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ever hear of such film companies as Premiere, Claridge, Royal, Lo-pert, International Classics and Regional Film Distributors? Probably not. Yet such firms have released many important movies.

These companies are subsidiaries of the major film corporations, and their purpose is to release movie that are considered too "special" for general distribution. In many cases that means too censorable.

Some industry observers fear that subsidiaries will be used to make a mockery of the self-censorship code. The National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures has decried having such companies release films that cannot qualify for a code seal. But the practice seems well accepted in the industry.

The most notable case was Michaelangelo Antonioni's "Blowup." MGM had sponsored the film, then discovered it could not get a code seal, largely because of a nude romp of David Hemmings and two teen-agers. So MGM activated a subsidiary called Premiere.

Films to release the film. "We did so because we thought the code office was wrong in this case," explained Clark Ramsay, new studio boss at MGM. "Our contract with Antonioni gave us the right to make certain cuts as ordered by the code; but we didn't feel they were warranted."

Ramsay added that there are no plans to use Premiere for future films. The release didn't hurt "Blowup," which has been a spectacular success at the box office.

United Artists has for several years used its Lopert subsidiary for film like "Never on Sunday" and "Tom Jones" which might have encountered censorship problems—both films are now considered so mild that they can be shown on television.

"The primary purpose of Lopert," explains Herb Jaffe, West Coast vice president of United Artists, "is to distribute foreign-language features and other films that do not appear to be mass entertainment. They require special handling on the art-house circuit, though some turn out to be popular with a wide audience and then are taken over by United Artists."

The Motion Picture Association, police of movie morals, has taken no stand on the subsidiaries. "They are not members of the association, so we have no control," says a spokesman.

But of course the parent companies comprise the association and they are not likely to act against themselves. That's why the subsidiaries will continue to be a back door to the nation's theaters for films that may not qualify for the usual entrance.

Robert McKelvey Addresses Nurses Assn.

Robert McKelvey, pharmacist, was guest speaker for the latest meeting of the Pickaway County Registered and Graduate Nurses Assn. in the home of Mrs. William Camp, 535 Green Acre Court. Present were 19 members and two guests, Mrs. Jerry Anderson and Mrs. Archie Ward.

Mrs. James Fausnaugh, president, presided at the business session. Committee reports were read. Members volunteered to assist in the Wel Child Clinic, Nov. 8.

The group voted to amend the constitution to provide an increase in the annual dues. Members were reminded that annual dues are payable at this time.

Mr. McKelvey's topic was "Pharmacology and New Drugs." He told of the newer antibiotics, their specific purpose and dosages. He also included the details of the Harris Act which involves the recording of drugs other than narcotics. An accurate inventory must be kept by all pharmacists. New types of tetanus antitoxins are now available and have excellent results. He conducted a question and answer period following his talk.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by Mrs. Fausnaugh, assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Joseph Oliver, Mrs. Thomas Matesky and Mrs. James Sutton.

The November meeting of the group will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Knollwood Village. Dr. Y. M. Friedman of Chillicothe will discuss "Emotional Problems in Children." Names will be drawn for the "foster children" at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Gaines, 717 E. Mound S., are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Sharon Sue, to Dick Ned McCollister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCollister, 163 W. High St.

The double ring ceremony was performed Saturday, Oct. 21, by the Rev. Melvin Maxwell, president of the Circleville Bible College, at his home, 501 E. Ohio St.

The bride was attired in a white metallic street length dress with matching pillbox hat and veil. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. James Armstrong, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a mist grey knit sheath dress. Ray Crawford served as best man.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony for members of the bridal party and a few close friends and relatives.

The refreshment table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped by the traditional bride and groom. Tall white tapers flanked either side of the cake.

Fall floral arrangements were used on the bride's table and throughout the home.

The bride attended Logan Elm High School and is presently studying with Lincoln School of Civil Service.

Mr. McCollister is employed at the local DuPont Co.

The couple is now residing at 307½ S. Court St.

Athenagoras, Pope Talk

Christian Unity Is Discussed

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met today in the Pope's study for their longest private talk yet on ways to bring their two churches back together after 900 years apart.

While the 70-year-old Pope and 81-year-old patriarch conferred in French without interpreters, their aides met separately at the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

The meeting of the Pope and patriarch was regarded as the most important since they began work to unite their churches.

In meetings in Jerusalem three years ago and in Turkey last July they spoke only briefly. Today's meeting was to last most of the morning.

In his speech at St. Peter's Basilica Thursday, the silver-bearded Athenagoras stressed that "a dialogue of charity" must precede "a dialogue of theologians."

Pope Paul and his aides, on the other hand, have been anxious to move to specific issues which split the two churches into East and West in 1054, the major difference being over the primacy of the Pope.

Prelate from the Christian Unity Office, which handles the Vatican's relations with the Eastern Orthodox church, pointed out that the patriarch made a significant step toward recognizing the importance of Rome for both churches in Thursday's addresses.

"This seat," the patriarch declared in the largest church of Christendom, "is the first by honor and by order in the organism of Christian churches."

Teddy's Statue Finally Unveiled

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Out on a Potomac River island, among the maples and the elms where the raccoons and the chipmunks play, a statue of Teddy Roosevelt has stood for many a moon.

For almost a year and a half it's stood there in a wooden crate with one burlapped fist rising out the top in rhetorical admonition.

Today they're uncrating, unveiling and dedicating it.

Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, the peppy and often peppy 83-year-old daughter of Theodore Roosevelt, 26th president of the United States, was scheduled to pull the string to unveil the 17-foot-high bronze statue of her father.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall was to preside, and other members of the Roosevelt family were coming.

The statue is part of a $1.4 million memorial on Theodore Roosevelt Island, an 88-acre wilderness preserve in the Potomac River at Washington, just upstream from the Lincoln Memorial.

Congress authorized Teddy's memorial in 1960, and the inevitable controversy arose over how it should look. Mrs. Longworth called one proposed spherical design "a global jungle gym."

The statue, executed by the late Paul Manship, has been standing crated in its place since May 6, 1966, overlooking an oval terrace. A step down is another surrounding terrace encircled by a moat crossed by footbridges.

From the outer terrace rise four granite slabs, each 21 feet high, inscribed with tenets of Roosevelt's philosophy of citizenship.

The island was bought from private owners in 1931, 12 years after TR's death, by the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Association to give to the American people. It can be reached by ferry from Washington and by a footbridge from the Virginia shore.

Young Bandit Is Slain By Woman

PITTSBURGH (AP) — You better get out or I'll shoot," Mrs. Frances Albrecht shouted at two young bandits holding a gun over her son. One of the men fired and she returned the fire, killing one youth and sending the other running, police said.

Mrs. Albrecht, 47, was grinding meat in the rear of her grocery store in the city's Garfield section Thursday when two young men entered and demanded money from her son minding the front counter, she told police.

One pulled a gun, she said. Mrs. Albrecht looked up, edged over to a cigar box where a gun had been hidden for 23 years and never used.

"You better get out or I'll shoot," police quoted her as saying. Her demand was answered by a shot from one of the bandit's pistol.

She fired, sending the gunman crashing to the floor with $40 from the cash register clutched in one hand and the pistol in another, officers said.

Killed by a single bullet in the head was Edward Miles, 18.

Mrs. Albrecht's son, Michael, 16, who suffered a powder burn on the left wrist, called police and said, "My mother just shot a man. He tried to hold her up." Patrolman Francis Murphy said, "She was standing there holding the gun. She gave it to me and sat down."

What Mrs. Albrecht didn't know was that the robber's gun was a starter pistol holding blanks.

No charges were filed against her.

Woman Shot; Linked with Hoffa Case

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A key witness in the James R. Hoffa probe here told police she was wounded by a gunshot Thursday night and police arrested a man a short time later.

Mary Ann Gordon Francis, 27, said after she was shot that she "couldn't fight all the money being poured into here to keep me from testifying."

Mrs. Francis, secretary of a Teamster Union local here, was wounded in the shoulder and reported in fair condition at a hospital.

Less than three hours later city police arrested Edmond H. Pullom, 38, and charged him with felonious assault. Officers said Mrs. Francis identified Pullom as her assailant.

"They're trying to kill me," officers quoted Mrs. Francis as saying after she approached them on a city street and told them she was shot.

Mrs. Francis was a government witness in the recent obstruction of justice trial of a prostitute charged with giving false information in an affidavit filed with Hoffa's third new trial motion.

Robert McKelvey Addresses Nurses Assn.

Robert McKelvey, pharmacist, was guest speaker for the latest meeting of the Pickaway County Registered and Graduate Nurses Assn. in the home of Mrs. William Camp, 535 Green Acre Court. Present were 19 members and two guests, Mrs. Jerry Anderson and Mrs. Archie Ward.

Mrs. James Fausnaugh, president, presided at the business session. Committee reports were read. Members volunteered to assist in the Wel Child Clinic, Nov. 8.

The group voted to amend the constitution to provide an increase in the annual dues. Members were reminded that annual dues are payable at this time.

Mr. McKelvey's topic was "Pharmacology and New Drugs." He told of the newer antibiotics, their specific purpose and dosages. He also included the details of the Harris Act which involves the recording of drugs other than narcotics. An accurate inventory must be kept by all pharmacists. New types of tetanus antitoxins are now available and have excellent results. He conducted a question and answer period following his talk.

Refreshments were served following the meeting by Mrs. Fausnaugh, assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. Joseph Oliver, Mrs. Thomas Matesky and Mrs. James Sutton.

The November meeting of the group will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, Knollwood Village, Dr. Y. M. Friedman of Chillicothe will discuss "Emotional Problems in Children." Names will be drawn for the "foster children" at this time.

Miss VanFossen Honored with Bridal Shower

Mrs. Charles Rittinger and Mrs. Marvin Rittinger entertained with a bridal shower recently honoring Miss Sandra VanFossen, bride-elect of Stephen Rittinger, at the home of Mrs. Wheeler Rittinger.

Pink and white umbrellas and a wedding bell were draped above the table where Miss VanFossen opened her gifts. Pink and white streamers were used throughout the room.

Contests were won by Mrs. Robert Hastings, Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Terry Campbell and Miss Ginger Smalley. They presented their prizes to Miss VanFossen.

A dessert course was served to Mrs. Jack Betts, Mrs. Robert Hastings, Mrs. Clem Rittinger, Mrs. Roy Rittinger, Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Ward Cross, Mrs. Herb Miller, Mrs. William Leist, Mrs. Terry Campbell, Miss Sherry Riffle, Miss Ginger Smalley, Mrs. Richard Hartman, Debbie and Patti; Mrs. Millard Heffner, Miss Barbara Jenkins, Miss Nancy Currence, Miss Janice Justice, Mrs. Ralph VanFossen, Mrs. Thad Carper, Mrs. Roger Hartman and Mrs. Wheeler Rittinger.

Sharon Gaines, Dick McCollister Repeat Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Willard R. Gaines, 717 E. Mound S., are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Sharon Sue, to Dick Ned McCollister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCollister, 163 W. High St.

The double ring ceremony was performed Saturday, Oct. 21, by the Rev. Melvin Maxwell, president of the Circleville Bible College, at his home, 501 E. Ohio St.

The bride was attired in a white metallic street length dress with matching pillbox hat and veil. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mrs. James Armstrong, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was attired in a mist grey knit sheath dress. Ray Crawford served as best man.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony for members of the bridal party and a few close friends and relatives.

The refreshment table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, topped by the traditional bride and groom. Tall white tapers flanked either side of the cake.

Fall floral arrangements were used on the bride's table and throughout the home.

The bride attended Logan Elm High School and is presently studying with Lincoln School of Civil Service.

Mr. McCollister is employed at the local DuPont Co.

The couple is now residing at 307½ S. Court St.

Athenagoras, Pope Talk

Christian Unity Is Discussed

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras met today in the Pope's study for their longest private talk yet on ways to bring their two churches back together after 900 years apart.

While the 70-year-old Pope and 81-year-old patriarch conferred in French without interpreters, their aides met separately at the Vatican Secretariat for Christian Unity.

The meeting of the Pope and patriarch was regarded as the most important since they began work to unite their churches.

In meetings in Jerusalem three years ago and in Turkey last July they spoke only briefly. Today's meeting was to last most of the morning.

In his speech at St. Peter's Basilica Thursday, the silver-haired Athenagoras stressed that "a dialogue of charity" must precede "a dialogue of theologians."

Pope Paul and his aides, on the other hand, have been anxious to move to specific issues which split the two churches into East and West in 1054, the major difference being over the primacy of the Pope.

Prelate from the Christian Unity Office, which handles the Vatican's relations with the Eastern Orthodox church, pointed out that the patriarch made a significant step toward recognizing the importance of Rome for both churches in Thursday's addresses.

"This seat," the patriarch declared in the largest church of Christendom, "is the first by honor and by order in the organism of Christian churches."

Reunion Proves Real Party
LAWTONS, N.Y. (AP) — It must be some party when the 227 descendants of Mrs. Nicholas Schmitt, 86, get together.
Mrs. Schmitt had 13 children, she now lives with one daughter among 11 children still living. The 13 children produced 71 grandchildren, who in turn gave her 139 great-grandchildren, making the grand total of 224 spanning four generations. Even the great-grandchildren have produced three great-great-grandchildren for Mrs. Schmitt.
All her descendants, save one, live in Erie County.

Botulism Outbreak Hits California

CORCORAN, Calif. (AP) — The bountiful fields and streams under the central California section of the Pacific Flyway have turned into a death trap for thousands of migratory birds.
Botulism, the dread disease of waterfowl, has struck with deadly effect in the Tulare Lake basin, infecting more than 60,000 birds and leaving at least 5,000 dead.
Irrigation ditches in the area, a stopping off place for migratory birds heading south after summering in the north, are lined with dead and dying ducks. Fish and Game Department officials fear the count of dead birds may reach 20,000.
Botulism, or food poisoning, strikes when standing water becomes warm and causes the vegetation beneath to ferment. The infected birds transmit the illness to other waterfowl.
Crews are burning the dead birds and transferring ailing ones to fresh water ponds in the nearby Kern National Wildlife Refuge.
"We hope to save a large number of the sick birds," said Dave Selleck, regional game manager for the state.
Selleck said the birds were forced into the warm water with the opening of the waterfowl hunting season.
"When hunting began on the public shooting areas and the duck clubs, these birds naturally sought water in which they were not disturbed," he said. "No hunting has been permitted on the irrigated farm lands in the basin."
The botulism outbreak in the area is the worst in several years.
Selleck said cooler weather would help stem the epidemic.

Parallel lines always converge at the same point on the horizon. If we stand in the center of a highway, and look straight ahead, we discover that the lanes seem to disappear at one central point. The artist must deal with this curious fact when he paints a canvas. We call it perspective. It is the way our eyes see the picture. If we stand at a different position, the scene changes, and the vanishing point is moved to a new place on the horizon. By changing our position we change our perspective.

This is true of life. How we look at our afflictions and our troubles is very largely determined by our inner attitude. In a very real way our ideas about God will determine our perspective.

The Church can help you to place all areas of life in balance. Many people today are confused and disturbed because they see things in the wrong perspective. Visit your church this Sunday and see if the world doesn't look better next week!

Medical Tags Often Make Life-or Death Difference

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — A man digging for gem stones accidentally stepped on a nest of yellow jackets. About 15 stung him. His throat swelled and he couldn't tell a companion he was deathly allergic to stings. But he pointed to a little metal tag he was wearing.

His companion, who had been scoffing at "a few little stings," rushed him to the emergency room of the nearest hospital.

"The doctor said more delay might have meant his life," his wife wrote Medic Alert Foundation International, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

The nonprofit, tax-exempt charitable foundation gets many grateful letters from among almost 200,000 persons wearing Medic Alert tags on bracelets or necklaces.

New enrollments average 2,500 a month, says Chester L. Watts, executive director.

The American Medical Association estimates that 40 million Americans—one in five—should be wearing medical identification because of a hidden health problem. It can prevent painful mistakes in treatment—or save a life.

There are some 200 reasons, ranging from drug allergies to use of contact lenses, for wearing a warning notice. Some persons can tolerate contact lenses for short periods only. Doctors and nurses may not notice such lenses on the eyes of patients brought unconscious to the hospital.

The foundation tag bears the words Medic Alert and the serpent-twined staff, universal medical symbol, emblazoned in red enamel on one side.

On the back is engraved the wearer's medical problem, such as: "Diabetes," "epilepsy," "allergic to—stings, certain drugs or antibiotics," "hemophilia," "wearing contact lenses," "scuba diver."

"Yes," says Watts. "Divers can have attacks of bends two hours after leaving the water and symptoms resemble those of acute intoxication."

The reverse of the tag also carries a serial number assigned to the wearer, and 209-634-4917, telephone number of the foundation, where a round-the-clock service of a central answering file is maintained. Collect calls are accepted from physicians, law enforcement officials and others in emergency.

The central file contains, besides medical information about the member, the name, address and telephone number of his doctor and of the wearer's nearest relative. It may also carry such information as his blood type, religion and if he has willed his eyes to an eye bank, which must obtain delivery within a short time after death.

A one-time only membership fee of $5 provides a wallet card and a stainless steel link bracelet or 24-inch necklace with the tag. About one-third of the members prefer sterling silver, Watts says, and they pay $7.50. Indigent persons can obtain them free.

A percentage of each fee goes into a trust fund to perpetuate the central file.

Dr. Marion C. Collins of Turlock founded Medic Alert in 1956 after his daughter, Linda, was administered an antitetanus injection by another physician. Linda, then 14, was allergic to the serum and almost died. Dr. Collins is president of the foundation, the largest of its kind in the world.

Art Professor Puts Religion in Drawings

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A young man finds a wounded bird and he nurses it to health. Thereupon it pecks him viciously in the eye and flies away.

"That's the way things are," says Jim Crane. "The reward for a good deed may be a kick in the shins, but you still have to do the right thing anyhow. Maybe another bird will turn out better."

That ambiguous situation and a stream of similar ironies of life provide the subject matter for the tragicomic cartoons of Crane, a 40-year-old Florida art professor who puts religious profundities into his plain line drawings.

It's "a way to help people think unthinkable thoughts," he says.

It's also a new form of philosophical exposition, seasoned with humor and dispensed by a growing number of contemporary cartoonists ranging from Charles Schulz' "Peanuts" to Jules Feiffer's contemplative characters.

As Crane sees the world in his sketches it's out of joint, badly cracked, often penalizing goodness, flawed by human self-centeredness, yet craving love, and trying, clumsily, to cultivate it.

"You look at the world, and you don't know whether to laugh or cry," he said in an interview. "It's all mixed up. You see the kind of blundering mess people are in, but also the possibilities for good. We sometimes blunder things right."

"But we have to water the flowers — and hope," he said.

Crane's cartoons now appear in several religious publications, including the Roman Catholic weekly, Ave Maria, the Methodist youth magazine, Motive, and the United Church's official fortnightly, United Church Herald.

As in Judeo-Christian teaching, what appears to be useless defeat may turn out to have positive values in the end. For example, one figure bemoans an apple gone rotten, fit only for flies, but another comments that it may have the seed of a whole new tree in it.

"Sometimes things look terrible," Crane said, "but may contain the makings of something very beneficial."

The cartoons tend more to probe and question than to pass judgements, to point up the paradoxical nature of truth rather than one side of it, to see the pathos both in villains and victims, and to puncture rigid, pat assumptions.

"Frozenness of thought is getting awfully prevalent and we need to find fresh ways of looking at things," Crane said. "That's what Christian thought is all about. Jesus did not preach didactically, but simply gave parables about situations, to make people see the world in a fresh way."

The negative consequences of spurious achievements show up in many of the cartoons, along with the blurred distinctions between right and wrong, between "good guys" and "bad guys," and the seeming uncertain results of decency.

"Kids are idealists until the first time they stub their toe, and then they become cynics," Crane said. "They think that because the world is not perfect and doesn't respond the way it should then the world is all bad."

"They need to realize that there's a lot more to it than that, so they won't give up their ideals so quickly."

Medical Tags Often Make Life-or Death Difference

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
AP Science Writer

TURLOCK, Calif. (AP) — A man digging for gem stones accidentally stepped on a nest of yellow jackets. About 15 stung him. His throat swelled and he couldn't tell a companion he was deathly allergic to stings. But he pointed to a little metal tag he was wearing.

His companion, who had been scoffing at "a few little stings," rushed him to the emergency room of the nearest hospital.

"The doctor said more delay might have meant his life," his wife wrote. Medice Alert Foundation International, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

The nonprofit, tax-exempt charitable foundation gets many grateful letters from among almost 200,000 persons wearing Medice Alert tags on bracelets or necklaces.

New enrollments average 2,500 a month, says Chester L. Watts, executive director.

The American Medical Association estimates that 40 million Americans—one in five—should be wearing medical identification because of a hidden health problem. It can prevent painful mistakes in treatment—or save a life.

There are some 200 reasons, ranging from drug allergies to use of contact lenses, for wearing a warning notice. Some persons can tolerate contact lenses for short periods only. Doctors and nurses may not notice such lenses on the eyes of patients brought unconscious to the hospital.

The foundation tag bears the words Medice Alert and the serpent-twined staff, universal medical symbol, embossed in red enamel on one side.

On the back is engraved the wearer's medical problem, such as: "Diabetes," "epilepsy," "allergic to—stings, certain drugs or antibiotics," "hemophilia," "wearing contact lenses," "scuba diver."

"Yes," says Watts. "Divers can have attacks of bends two hours after leaving the water and symptoms resemble those of acute intoxication."

The reverse of the tag also carries a serial number assigned to the wearer, and 209-634-4917, telephone number of the foundation, where a round-the-clock service of a central answering file is maintained. Collect calls are accepted from physicians, law enforcement officials and others in emergency.

The central file contains, besides medical information about the member, the name, address and telephone number of his doctor and of the wearer's nearest relative. It may also carry such information as his blood type, religion and if he has willed his eyes to an eye bank, which must obtain delivery within a short time after death.

A one-time only membership fee of $5 provides a wallet card and a stainless steel link bracelet or 24-inch necklace with the tag. About one-third of the members prefer sterling silver, Watts says, and they pay $7.50. Indigent persons can obtain them free.

A percentage of each fee goes into a trust fund to perpetuate the central file.

Dr. Marion C. Collins of Turlock founded Medice Alert in 1956 after his daughter, Linda, was administered an antitetanus injection by another physician. Linda, then 14, was allergic to the serum and almost died. Dr. Collins is president of the foundation, the largest of its kind in the world.

Art Professor Puts Religion in Drawings

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A young man finds a wounded bird and he nurses it to health. Thereupon it pecks him viciously in the eye and flies away.

"That's the way things are," says Jim Crane. "The reward for a good deed may be a kick in the shins, but you still have to do the right thing anyhow. Maybe another bird will turn out better."

That ambiguous situation and a stream of similar ironies of life provide the subject matter for the tragicomic cartoons of Crane, a 40-year-old Florida art professor who puts religious profundities into his plain line drawings.

It's "a way to help people think unthinkable thoughts," he says.

It's also a new form of philosophical exposition, seasoned with humor and dispensed by a growing number of contemporary cartoonists ranging from Charles Schulz' "Peanuts" to Jules Feiffer's contemplative characters.

As Crane sees the world in his sketches it's out of joint, badly cracked, often penalizing goodness, flawed by human self-centeredness, yet craving love, and trying, clumsily, to cultivate it.

"You look at the world, and you don't know whether to laugh or cry," he said in an interview. "It's all mixed up. You see the kind of blundering mess people are in, but also the possibilities for good. We sometimes blunder things right."

"But we have to water the flowers — and hope," he said. Crane's cartoons now appear in several religious publications, including the Roman Catholic weekly, Ave Maria, the Methodist youth magazine, Motive, and the United Church's official fortnightly, United Church Herald.

As in Judeo-Christian teaching, what appears to be useless defeat may turn out to have positive values in the end. For example, one figure bemoans an apple gone rotten, fit only for flies, but another comments that it may have the seed of a whole new tree in it.

"Sometimes things look terrible," Crane said, "but may contain the makings of something very beneficial."

The cartoons tend more to probe and question than to pass judgements, to point up the paradoxical nature of truth rather than one side of it, to see the pathos both in villains and victims, and to puncture rigid, pat assumptions.

"Frozenness of thought is getting awfully prevalent and we need to find fresh ways of looking at things," Crane said. "That's what Christian thought is all about. Jesus did not preach didactically, but simply gave parables about situations, to make people see the world in a fresh way."

The negative consequences of spurious achievements show up in many of the cartoons, along with the blurred distinctions between right and wrong, between "good guys" and "bad guys" and the seeming uncertain results of decency.

"Kids are idealists until the first time they stub their toe, and then they become cynics," Crane said. "They think that because the world is not perfect and doesn't respond the way it should then the world is all bad."

"They need to realize that there's a lot more to it than that, so they won't give up their ideals so quickly."

Women Rethink Role in World

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Author Vance Packard says "women are beginning to rethink their roles and motherhood does not dominate their lives as it once did."

Packard spoke at Washburn University on changing sex roles, a subject he said he is researching for a new book.

"We now have men who wear manes and women who look like lion tamers," Packard said.

Set Milk Strike In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP)—Leaders of three major farm organizations and officials of the Teamsters Union are considering the possibility of a week-long demonstration strike next month that would halt milk deliveries throughout Pennsylvania.

The strike would serve as a public protest against Gov. Raymond Shafer's plan to disband the state Milk Control Commission and pass some of its powers to a new agency within the state Agriculture department.

Mail Xmas Gifts For Servicemen Before Nov. 10

Christmas gifts for servicemen abroad, sent by surface mail, must be mailed no later than Nov. 10, two weeks from now, to insure delivery. Air mailed packages must be mailed by Dec. 10.

"Something personal" from loved ones at home has always topped the list of Christmas gifts preferred by servicemen abroad.

Family snapshots, portraits, voice tapes and letters from home were the most frequently made gift suggestions by soldiers in Vietnam, Korea, Japan and Europe, in a recent poll made by the Red Cross.

Servicemen like gifts with a touch of home because they are more personal and meaningful than luxury items which they can often purchase themselves for less money from military post exchanges.

Family gifts should vary according to a man's military location and rank. But other gifts high on the list of preferred items are paperback books, small puzzles, stationery, and brand name articles. Even extra money for leaves while in foreign countries is enjoyed.

Home-baked foods such as cake and cookies are always welcome, but such perishables are usually not practical gifts for servicemen in tropical areas such as Southeast Asia.

FTC Rejects Cigarette Comparisons

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission rejected today the idea of advertising particular brands of cigarettes as safe or safer than their competitors.

In a review of its policies on advertising the tar and nicotine content of cigarettes, the commission said scientific data indicates that a substantial reduction of tar and nicotine intake may lower the harmful effects of smoking.

But it added "there is no reliable evidence that the health hazards of cigarette smoking are thereby eliminated or avoided."

"Hence, no matter how relatively low its tar and nicotine content, no cigarette may truthfully be advertised or represented to the public, expressly or by implication, as safe or safer," the commission added.

Its policy summary was prepared for the National Association of Broadcasters.

As a general rule, the FTC said, the commission will not challenge tar and nicotine statements so long as they are accurate and proven by tests conducted by methods and procedures used by the commission.

Report Michigan Plane Crash

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — The two-man crew of a private jet plane and their two passengers escaped serious injury Wednesday when their plane crashed and burned on landing near Muskegon in western lower Michigan.

The four were taken to Muskegon's Hackley Hospital for observation.

The crewmen were identified as pilot Kenneth Haertling and copilot J. R. Badzik, both of Columbus, Ohio. The two passengers were, Robert W. Hasper, a Continental Motors Corp. executive of North Muskegon, and Robert D. Murray of Detroit.

The Lear jet plane was owned by Executive Jets of Columbus.

Bank's Too Nosey, Patman Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cleveland Federal Reserve Bank is being too personal with its employees, Rep. Wright Thursday.

He said the bank is behaving like a peeping tom.

Patman, chairman of the House Banking Committee, said in a statement bank employees are required to fill out questionnaires about such things as their indebtedness, outside jobs, whether they engage in speculative dealings and whether they hold public office.

Methodists Plan 'New Life Mission'

Final plans are being completed for the First Methodist Church of Circleville's participation in "New Life Mission" Nov. 5-9. A full schedule of worship and intensive study is being planned.

The Rev. Conrad Diehm of McKendree Methodist Church in Columbus will be the guest minister and deliver the evening worship service 7:30 each evening and will lead the dialogue groups following the worship.

Special music will be provided for each service by the church choir or the adult choir.

Among the special events of the week will be a service of Holy Communion 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 4.

The youth will have a Teen-Arama meeting preceding the Sunday evening service. They have had Prayer Breakfasts Oct. 24 and 26, and will have others Oct. 31 and Nov. 2. Prayer groups of the Women's Society of Christian Service will also be held.

General chairman of the "New Life Mission" is William Kirkpatrick. Committee chairmen are: Dr. Lloyd Sprouse, ambassador; Jerry Winfough, Attendance; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, advertising; Jack McGuire, arrangements; Mrs. Donald Archer, materials; Burton Kirkman, finance; Mrs. Walter Heise, youth; Mrs. J. L. Chilcote, groups; Mrs. Herbert Southward, nursery, and Mrs. Larry Graham, music workshop.

Ohio Wesleyan, Otterbein Talk

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Wesleyan University and Otterbein College disclosed plans today for a joint, "intensive, long-range exploration" of possible cooperative educational programs between the two education liberal arts colleges.

Initial talks thus far have been preliminary, but joint studies will be undertaken with initial discussions with faculty and student leaders to begin early in 1968.

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Knotts, who plays slight, nervous little men better than almost anyone else, left the Andy Griffith show three seasons ago to pursue his own career. But Don's retirement as Barney Fife, deputy sheriff of Mayberry, has been tentative.

Two seasons ago he returned to the series for a couple of guest shots—playing Barney—and walked away with an Emmy for his performance.

Thursday night he was back with Andy again—this time in a special variety show called "The Don Knotts Show." He was not called Barney in this, but the character was the same and so was his relationship to Andy Griffith in the sketches.

The best portions of the show were the dance and song numbers starring guest star Juliet Prowse, Tony Charmoli's dance numbers and the sets and costume were most decorative.

All in all, it ranks merely as a special program in this season of special specials, very special specials and extra special specials.

The producer of ABC's "Good Company," David Susskind, reportedly wanted more controversy in the series than it has been having, and they got it last night from a master.

Jack Paar, obviously, has lost none of his taste and talent for a good fight in the months he has been away from network television and living the good rural life in northern Maine.

As the subject of the Thursday night show, Paar, obviously stung, went to work on Ed Sullivan, who had been quoted recently in a news magazine with an uncomplimentary remark about Paar. But where Paar in the old days might have operated with a rapier-like wit, he went after Sullivan using his tongue like a bludgeon. Maybe feuding like dancing, requires plenty of practice.

Paar was egged on by host Lee Bailey who seemed downright uncomfortable in the role of goad. He devoted most of the program to attacking Sullivan—but was in fact much more interesting when he was describing the operation of his broadcasting station, WMTW-TV, with its antennae atop Mount Whitney where, in cold weather, the maintenance crew lives in enforced isolation for a week or more at a time.

Marshall 'Cautious Liberal' on High Court

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall's judicial philosophy came sharply into focus in his first month as a Supreme Court justice.

Although the term is young and the evidence necessarily limited, an analysis of his performance to date indicates a liberal stance—but a rather cautious one.

On the liberal side of the ledger, the former advocate for Negroes' civil rights joined in reversing the murder convictions of two Alabama Negroes.

In one case, the court found evidence of exclusion of Negroes from juries. In the other it found the Negro confessed after the police chief threatened to kill him.

To a man, Marshall's eight colleagues voted to reverse these convictions. But in a less noticed action, the court's first Negro justice stood with liberals Abe Fortas and William O. Douglas apart from the other members of the court in a fair trial decision.

As U.S. Solicitor General, Marshall had appealed publicly to the nation's prosecutors to make sure defendants get a fair trial. Last Monday he took a significant stand in this area.

At the murder trial of a California man the prosecution introduced testimony that the defendant had offered to make a deal if he could be spared from the gas chamber.

Convicted and under life sentence, he appealed to the Supreme Court and was turned down. Dissenting, Marshall and Douglas joined Fortas in criticizing the majority for not taking the case and deciding if admission of such statements at trials should be prohibited.

In the areas of obscenity and church-state relations, however, Marshall seems to be taking a more moderate position. The religious freedom. He voted against hearing the appeal of an artist convicted in Miami for exhibiting six allegedly obscene statues in his backyard. And he voted against hearing an Amish farmer's claim that Kansas' compulsory school attendance law violates religious freedom. In the obscenity case, Justice Potter Stewart, Hugh L. Black and Douglas voted to reverse the conviction and said the Miami ordinance prohibiting "the knowing possession of obscene figures or images for sale" was clearly unconstitutional.

In the church-state case, Chief Justice Earl Warren, Douglas and Fortas dissented.

Since approval of four justices is required to have a case heard by the court, each appeal fell short by one vote.

On the bench, Marshall has actively questioned the contesting attorneys. His approach has been pithy and direct. In trying to get at the heart of one case, he told a lawyer: "I don't want to get bogged down in language."

Obviously, more will be known about Marshall's views as the term wears on. But for the moment, he does not appear to be the "constitutional iconoclast" denounced by several Southern senators who opposed his nomination.

Officers Make Right Decision

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Police are faced with this split-second decision.

Is a shady-looking character reaching inside his jacket for a gun in a shoulder holster a more immediate threat than a sexy blonde armed with a .38-caliber revolver?

The two are pictured life-size on target boards flipped at five-second intervals before the officers taking part in pistol practice.

In almost every case, the patrolmen rightly have fired first at the curvaceous blonde, says range officer Frank Hell.

Grief Has Gone to Her Head

DEAR ABBY: My husband's older sister recently lost her husband after a lingering illness. When she blew into town asking if we knew any eligible men for her to forget her sorrow with. She says she isn't interested in any "old" men "over 60."

(She claims to be 70, but my husband says she's 74!) She tells us she has undergone a thoro checkup at the Mayo clinic and they told her she was like a girl of 25.

As soon as she meets a person she tells him about her holdings, property and cash on hand.

We don't know what's come over her. She has dyed her lovely gray hair a hideous orange, and she wears miniskirts and loud colors. How can we explain her disgraceful appearance and conduct to our friends? She is the talk of this town.

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: You could explain that you think her grief has gone to her head. (Maybe it has.) In any case, you are not responsible for your sister-in-law's behavior.

DEAR ABBY: The office supervisor where I work has a habit of putting his arm around you, and letting his hand rest firmly on your hip while he is discussing something with you. He is a very friendly type and I am sure he means nothing by it, as he is a happily married man. However, this is very annoying to me. Other girls in the office have told me it was annoying to them, too.

How can I handle this without making a federal case out of something I know is more thoughtlessness than lust?

OFFICE PRUDE

DEAR PRUDE: When this happily married man puts his arm around you, subtly shake it off, or squirm loose. If he repeats the friendly gesture, use your hand emphatically to remove his.

You need not make a federal case out of it. If you smile thru it all, you can settle it

Repairman Killed Man Found Dead

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 36-year-old die repairman was caught in a hydraulic die press and crushed to death Thursday at the Empire Die Casting Co. in suburban Warrensville Heights. The victim, Wilbert G. Mauser of Cleveland Heights, was helping get the press ready for production when the accident occurred, a company spokesman reported.

You need not make a federal case out of it. If you smile thru it all, you can settle it in the lower courts.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem goes back to 1943 when my husband was in World War II. We were very much in love — and still are. He was in the air corps and I worked on the base. We planned to marry as soon as the war was over. He was sent overseas and soon after, I learned that I was pregnant. He got back when I was in my ninth month and we didn't feel like getting married with me in my obvious condition so we told everyone (including our families) that we had been married secretly all along.

Well, it has been nearly 24 years and we still aren't married. We had other children (our eldest is now married) and no one suspects that we have never gone thru a marriage ceremony. We kept wanting to get married, but were afraid our application for a license would be published and everyone would know we had never been married.

We are a devoted couple, Abby, and we "feel" as married as legally married couples, but we want our children to be legitimate, and we want to get this off our consciences. Is there any way we can get married now without embarrassing our families and children? If you can help us we would be eternally grateful. No names, please.

FROM LODI, CALIFORNIA
DEAR FROM: Ask your lawyer to tell you about Section 79 of the California Civil Code which he may agree could answer your problem.

Gabriele Birnbaum Not Around

NEW YORK (AP)—Gabriele Birnbaum, where are you? More important, who are you?

The police would like to know why you left your station wagon parked on East 25th Street for a month.

And residents of East 25th Street want to know from police why the car collected 31 summonses from meter maids and was never towed away — while other cars are towed away 10 minutes after they are illegally parked.

Gabriele Birnbaum's station wagon came to public attention after residents took the 31 summonses, tucked in every cranny by a succession of meter maids, and taped them across the front of the car.

Police headquarters explained that towaway squads don't usually infringe on parking meter territory. The Traffic Department said it was odd, because meter maids were supposed to report to police after writing three or four summonses on the same car.

And police at the East 21st Street station said they didn't know about the car and would look into it immediately.

When they did, they found that Gabriele Birnbaum listed her address as Narrowsburg in upstate New York, but so far no one can be located there who ever heard of her.

And in Pennsylvania, where the car is registered, authorities said it was registered to a post office box number and that's all they know.

The car is in the pound, retrievable only on payment of the $25 tow fee and $155 in parking tickets.

Missile Missing

AUGSBURG, Germany (AP) — A Sidewinder air-to-air missile was reported missing from a West German air force base near here. A military spokesman said the theft seemed to be the work of an expert burglar.

The 155-pound missile has an explosive warhead and an infrared locator device that is "electronically very interesting," the spokesman said. It is part of the armament of Germany's F104G Starfighters.

CHS Reserve Cheerleaders Call for School Spirit

By SHARON JOHNSON, NANCY SIGMON and JONNIE THOMAS

This week CHS is proud to introduce reserve cheerleaders. Joyce Ankrom, Shirley Flaker, Marcia Pontious, Vicki Ralston and Beth Smith.

Captain for 1967-68 of the CHS reserve cheerleaders is 14-year-old Vicki Ralston. She resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ralston, at 364 N. Pickaway St. Vicki is in a classical course and is active in GAA. Sewing and dancing are two of her interests and she likes to work on cars.

"It's a big responsibility to be a cheerleader. You get to meet a lot of people and it's a lot of fun!" When faced with the question about school spirit, Vicki replied, "The people need to take a more personal interest in the game and really yell."

Another member of the reserve squad is Marcia Pontious, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Pontious, 122 S. Pickaway St. Marcia is enrolled in a classical course of study and enjoys skiing and all sports. She is a member of the GAA and belongs to the MYF at the Methodist Church.

"I really enjoy being a cheerleader," she says. "It's a lot of work and a big responsibility."

When Marcia was asked about the improvement of school spirit, she answered, "The people must have the real spirit of the game and let the team know that you are backing them up 100 per cent."

Joyce Ankrom is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ankrom, Route 1. She is 15 years old and in the college prep course of study. Joyce belongs to GAA, Curtin Callers and is a member of Salem Methodist Church. Her hobbies include playing the piano, horseback riding, swimming and cheerleading for four years.

When asked how she liked cheerleading Joyce replied, "I really like it. It's a lot of fun and you meet many people."

Beth Smith resides at 501 N. Pickaway St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith. She attends the First Methodist Church and is an active member of GAA, Curtin Callers, and 4-H. Beth has been a cheerleader for three years. She enjoys dancing, cheering and water skiing.

When asked why she wanted to be a cheerleader Beth replied, "I guess it's just the satisfaction of knowing that I helped cheer our team to victory or stood by them in defeat."

Shirley Flaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flaker, 927 S. Washington St. She is 15 years old and in the college prep course. She belongs to SOS, GAA and attends the First EUB Church. Her hobbies include sewing, cheerleading, and swimming.

When asked how she felt about being a cheerleader, Shirley replied, "I think it's really great and I enjoy it a lot."

When asked how she felt about being a cheerleader, Shirley replied, "I think it's really great and I enjoy it a lot."

A distance runner of the track squad and one of the leaders of the "Warrior team, Mel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith, 609 Elm Ave. At CHS Mel is enrolled in the business course.

When asked the difference between cross country and track, Mel answers, "I believe that cross country is indeed the harder sport. The training is much tougher and the race is a mile long over hills and everything else that can be described. Cross country is certainly the harder of the two sports."

Seniors ordered announcements Tuesday.

Basketball season starts Nov. 1.

Mr. Truman, Choir director, tested CHS choir members' voices Monday.

Congratulations to Debbie Zickfoose, grand champion winner of the teenage pie baking contest at Pumpkin Show. Debbie, a junior, is also a member of the CHS office staff.

Invest wisely in your future for there you will have to spend the rest of your life.

Music Played In Library Is Controversial

Glenn LaRue, librarian, at CHS has been playing soft music in the library the past few weeks. He feels that this will make the library a more inviting place in which to study.

When students were asked what they thought of the music in the library their replies were varied. Some are listed.

Daryl Brown—"I feel that it has its advantages, but I feel too many students go in just to listen to the music."

Jack Carle—"I think it is a good idea, because it gives me a good atmosphere for studying."

Jerry Myers—"It's great because the music is relaxing."

Danny Ogan—"It bothers me when I'm studying."

Tammy Henderson—"I think it is really cool. It relaxes me."

Jean Ryan—"It gives me a more relaxed atmosphere for studying."

Connie Bowers—"It's very relaxing and it drowns out all the talking."

Halloween Traditions Date Back 400 Years

By SUSAN DEMJEN

Now is the time for all good witches to test-fly their brooms and for goblins to practice halloweening. Halloween is near.

Some 400 years ago beggar holiday became traditional, enabling the poor to call on more fortunate people in quest of needed items. Historically, it is the holy evening before All Saints' Day, Nov. 1.

Druids of Britain pegged the day as the end of summer and a time to remember the dead. Ghosts were believed to return and cheer their relatives for the coming year.

There were also wicked spirits who played nasty tricks. To drive these evil spirits away, the people lit candles which were inserted into pumpkins.

All the traditions have carried through to the present, so on Tuesday night, children of all ages will celebrate the superstitious holiday, Halloween.

There were also wicked spirits who played nasty tricks. To drive these evil spirits away, the people lit candles which were inserted into pumpkins.

Tiny Tigers Top Hurricane, 7-0

CHS reserve football team topped Wilmington reserves, 7-0 Saturday.

Only score for the Tigers came late in the fourth quarter when Mike Smith cracked 15 yards for the score. The TD was set up by Dick Walters' pass interception and runback.

The "Tiny Tigers" own a 2-2-1 slate. Next contest is against Hillsboro of the CHS field.

Respect Acquired at Home

By SUSAN DEMJEN

Do students respect their teachers? Do they behave when the teacher leaves the room? Do they pay attention in class and refrain from talking to their neighbor?

Some students at CHS would give a negative answer to these questions while the rest would give a positive answer.

Training in the home has a big influence on a student's respect for not only a teacher but anyone older than he. If the student is brought up to respect his parents and abide by their rules, the student will normally follow through in all situations with a respectful attitude. This is not something that is learned over night, but training that is acquired through years of growing up.

Teacher Feature

Teaching the French language at CHS this year is Mrs. Carol Mader.

MRS. CAROL MADER

At Perry High School, Massillon, O., where she attended, Mrs. Mader was active in NHS, a member of the library and office staff and salutatorian of her graduating class. She attended Miami University, majoring in Spanish.

She recently taught Spanish and French at Franklin Heights High School, Columbus.

When asked her opinion of CHS students, Mrs. Mader replied, "I have been quite pleased with my teaching experience in Circleville and find the students enthusiastic and willing to put forth their best efforts in academic endeavors, as well as extracurricular activities."

Mrs. Mader has been especially impressed by the way the junior class has accepted its responsibilities manning a booth at home football games. Mrs. Mader hopes to find this year at CHS a rewarding experience.

Juniors To Stage Hill House Tale

By BETSY HAMRICK

The Junior Class has chosen "The Haunting of Hill House" for this year's production play scheduled for Nov. 17-18 under the direction of Mrs. Martha Wiggins with Rick Compton serving as student director.

Hill House is a brooding isolated and forbidding mansion located deep in the back country of an Eastern state. Psychic activity is reported to occur there.

The part of shy young Eleanor will be played by Nancy Benzenburg. Suspicious housekeeper, Mrs. Dudley, will be portrayed by Debbie Shea. Theodora, dark and rather exotic-looking, a creature of mood and sudden impulse, will be Patty Glitt. Wesley Jones will hold the part of Dr. Montague, who wears steel-rimmed glasses and has a professional air.

Young good-looking Luke will have John Brobst in the role.

CHS Reserve Cheerleaders Call for School Spirit

This week CHS is proud to introduce reserve cheerleaders, Joyce Ankrom, Shirley Flaker, Marcia Pontious, Vicki Ralston and Beth Smith.

Captain for 1967-68 of the CHS reserve cheerleaders is

14-year-old Vicki Ralston. She resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ralston, at 564 N. Pickaway St. Vicki is in a classical course and is active in GAA. Sewing and dancing are two of her interests and she likes to work on cars.

"It's a big responsibility to be a cheerleader. You get to meet a lot of people and it's a lot of fun!" When faced with the question about school spirit, Vicki replied, "The people need to take a more personal interest in the game and really yell."

Another member of the reserve squad is Marcia Pontious, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Pontious, 122 S. Pickaway St. Marcia is enrolled in a classical course of study and enjoys skiing and all sports. She is a member of the GAA and belongs to the MYF at the Methodist Church.

"I really enjoy being a cheerleader," she says. "It's a lot of work and a big responsibility."

WHEN Marcia was asked about the improvement of school spirit, she answered, "The people must have the real spirit of the game and let the team know that you are backing them up 100 per cent."

Joyce Ankrom is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ankrom, Route 1. She is 15 years old and in the college prep course of study. Joyce belongs to GAA, Curtin Callers and is a member of Salem Methodist Church. Her hobbies include playing the piano, horseback riding, swimming and cheerleading for four years.

When asked how she liked cheerleading, Joyce replied, "I really like it. It's a lot of fun and you meet many people."

Beth Smith resides at 501 N. Pickaway St. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith. She attends the First Methodist Church and is an active member of GAA, Curtin Callers, and 4-H. Beth has been a cheerleader for three years. She enjoys dancing, cheering and water skiing.

When asked why she wanted to be a cheerleader, Beth replied, "I guess it's just the satisfaction of knowing that I helped cheer our team to victory or stood by them in defeat."

Shirley Flaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flaker, 927 S. Washington St. She is 15 years old and in the college prep course. She belongs to SOS, GAA and attends the First EUB Church. Her hobbies include sewing, cheerleading, and swimming.

When asked how she felt about being a cheerleader, Shirley replied, "I think it's really great and I enjoy it a lot."

Music Played In Library Is Controversial

Glenn LaRue, librarian, at CHS has been playing soft music in the library the past few weeks. He feels that this will make the library a more inviting place in which to study.

When students were asked what they thought of the music in the library their replies were varied. Some are listed.

Daryl Brown—"I feel that it has its advantages, but I feel too many students go in just to listen to the music."

Jack Carle—"I think it is a good idea, because it gives me a good atmosphere for studying."

Mike Smith—"The music is pretty good because it stimulates the mind."

Jerry Myers—"It's great because the music is relaxing."

Danny Ogan—"It bothers me when I'm studying."

Tammy Henderson—"I think it is really cool. It relaxes me."

Jean Ryan—"It gives me a more relaxed atmosphere for studying."

By SUSAN DEMJEN

Now is the time for all good witches to test-fly their brooms and for goblins to practice hobgoblining. Halloween is near. Some 400 years ago beggar holiday became traditional, enabling the poor to call on more fortunate people in quest of needed items. Historically, it is the holy evening before All Saints' Day, Nov. 1.

Druids of Britain pegged the day as the end of summer and a time to remember the dead. Ghosts were believed to return and cheer their relatives for the coming year.

There were also wicked spirits who played nasty tricks. To drive these evil spirits away, the people lit candles which were inserted inside pumpkins.

All the traditions have carried through to the present, so on Tuesday night, children of all ages will celebrate the superstitious holiday, Halloween.

Tiny Tigers Top Hurricane, 7-0

CHS reserve football team topped Wilmington reserves, 7-0 Saturday.

Only score for the Tigers came late in the fourth quarter when Mike Smith cracked 15 yards for the score. The TD was set up by Dick Walters' pass interception and runback.

Walters booted the extra point for the final score.

The Tiny Tigers own a 2-2-1 slate. Next contest is against Hillsboro of the CHS field.

By SUSAN DEMJEN

Do students respect their teachers? Do they behave when the teacher leaves the room? Do they pay attention in class and refrain from talking to their neighbor?

Some students at CHS would give a negative answer to these questions while the rest would give a positive answer.

Training in the home has a big influence on a student's respect for not only a teacher but anyone older than he. If the student is brought up to respect his parents and abide by their rules, the student will normally follow through in all situations with a respectful attitude. This is not something that is learned over night, but training that is acquired through years of growing up.

Pickaway Sports Perspective

By STEVE JONES

Circleville High School's football team has been accorded a position in the top ten teams in the state by Associated Press sportswriters and sportscasters who vote on the weekly poll.

It is an honor to be so highly rated and a credit to the present team, and Circleville's record over the past seven seasons.

For the past seven years, Circleville has had exceptional coaches and outstanding material. The Tigers have won or shared five of seven South Central Ohio League titles, winning 60 games, losing nine and tying one. This year's record is 7-0.

The Tigers have a 14 game winning streak and have lost only one game over last season and this current campaign.

Gridders like Steve Dade, Eddie Wells, Bob Tootle, Tom Wright, Rod Sines, Craig Lambert, Jim Campbell, Jim Samuel, Steve Carroll, Don Cordle, Rick Sims, Dick Thornton, Bob Dean, Lynn Heath, Bill Gates, Jerry Myers, George Hill, Phil Diehl, Frankie Carter, Danny Smith, all of whom have played in starting roles at some time during the season, can be credited with the fine record this year.

But a boy who has never worn a varsity uniform is probably the chief influencing factor in achieving state recognition for the Tigers.

Roger Lutz is the "tub thumper" for Circleville. A student manager, each week Roger sends letters to just about every sports desk in Ohio, asking voters to look kindly at the defending SCO champs when casting their ballots.

Coaches Paul Starr, Dick Fisher, Jim Lint, Kent Carpenter, Danny Fouts and Brent Bell have guided the team to a fine record.

But if it weren't for an enthusiastic student publicity director, Circleville's Tigers might still be 42nd as they were the first time they were mentioned in the poll instead of 10th.

Wittenberg-OWU Game Tops Ohio College Card

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's major college football teams all see action Saturday but the best game of the day could unfurl at Delaware.

Unbeaten Wittenberg (5-0), ranked seventh in the small college AP poll, risks its unblemished record against undefeated Ohio Wesleyan in a clash that could determine the Ohio Conference champion.

The Fighting Bishops are 4-0-1 and like Wittenberg, have won their only two games in the OC.

Both have explosive attacks and stingy defenses. Wesleyan's Bob Badami tops the loop in passing with 1,006 yards and 15 rushing with 540 yards while the Tigers' Gene Laughman has passed for 1,006 yards and 15 touchdowns, the league's best aerial marks.

In other top attractions, Ohio State enters Illinois (1-4) on Homecoming Day in a match of sputtering attacks. The Buckeyes, 2-2 on the season and 1-1 in the Big Ten, need a victory to keep their Rose Bowl aspirations intact.

Muskies Lose To Anaheim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota was cold. So were the Muskies. And the fans don't seem to have warmed up to the idea of a new professional team either.

Only 807 customers turned out Thursday night as the temperature was in the 30s and Anaheim beat Minnesota 115-99 in an American Basketball Association contest.

The Amigos turned a 26-24 first-quarter lead into a 61-55 half-time bulge and coasted home from there.

In other ABA games Thursday night, New Jersey edged Kentucky 134-131 at Louisville before 3,985 fans and Oakland downed Indiana 118-114 on the West Coast before a crowd of 2,986. No games were scheduled in the National Basketball Association.

Winter Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Winter won't bother Ohio State University's golf team. They'll just roll out their new putting green when the snow falls. The 15 x 20 foot carpet, to be used in the OSU field house, is made of artificial grass similar to that in the Astro dome at Houston, Tex.

NEW PARK MANAGER — Kenneth Kingery, a native of Ross County, has assumed his duties at A. W. Marion State Park as the new manager. He replaces Cloyce Hattery who was transferred to Independence Dam Park near Defiance.

Access Road At Lake Near Completion

Fishermen using Hargus Lake at A. W. Marion State Park will soon be able to drive their cars to the east shore of the lake. A gravel access road is nearly finished.

The construction is being completed by the Van Camp Construction Co. The Warner-Huffer Road, which at one time extended from the Bolender-Pontious Road to the Ringgold-Southern Road, is being rebuilt to the edge of the lake.

The road will provide access for fishermen to the very edge of the lake. A turn-around has been graveled near the shoreline.

In addition, the parking lot at the dam site is being enlarged and paved. The road leading to the lot is also being repaved.

Earlier this summer the parking lot at the boat ramp was paved and enlarged. A new boat-launching ramp was completed in the spring. A well was dug and a new well-house constructed. All this was completed at an approximate cost of $43,000.

The present work on the access road to the east side and on the parking lot at the dam site is being funded with monies from the Division of Highways, according to Marvin Rebholz, chief of the division of parks.

No major capital improvements are presently planned for the next biennium, Rebholz said. A total of $110,000 was appropriated for capital improvements in the 1965-67 biennium. However, only $45,200 of that amount was expended.

The other $64,800 lapsed. The Division of Parks, in the appropriation bill presented to the legislature last summer, made no request for additional funds at the park.

Hargus Lake Stocked

The Ohio Division of Wildlife recently stocked 2,000 large mouth bass fingerlings in Hargus Lake, A. W. Marion State Park.

Miami of Oxford, Ohio has two senior centers from Toledo on its football squad. They are double letter winner Paul Krasula, 221, and Marty Torgler, 202.

Kenneth Kingery Is New Manager at Marion Park

Kenneth Kingery, 30, a native of Bourneville in Ross County, has assumed his duties as the manager of A. W. Marion State Park.

An employee of the division of Parks for the past two years, Kingery is married and the father of five children.

He attended school at Twin Twp. in Ross County, now a part of the Paint Valley School District.

Kingery started with the division of parks as a laborer at Rocky Fork Lake State Park in Highland County. He was transferred to Cowan Lake Park in Clinton County, serving as assistant manager there until his present assignment.

He replaces Cloyce Hattery, who was transferred to Independence Dam State Park near Defiance. Hattery came to A. W. Marion Park in April, 1965, following 4½ years as laborer and labor foreman at East Harbor State Park.

At that time, he replaced Fred Miller, the park's first manager. Miller was promoted to manager at Defiance. He resigned recently to accept a position with the Army Corps of Engineers.

In addition to Kingery, the park staff consists of two men, Carl Morris and Archie Ralston. Ralston, however, will be transferred to the new Deer Creek reservoir shortly.

50 College Teams Unbeaten, Untied

With more than half the college football season finished, 50 teams, including 11 major elevens, still are undefeated and untied.

North Dakota State and Kearney, Neb., State lead the list with seven victories, according to a survey by The Associated Press today.

The 11 major teams with unsullied records include Southern California, UCLA, Virginia Tech, East Carolina, North Carolina State and Wyoming with six victories; Colorado and Indiana with five, and Dartmouth, Harvard and Tulsa with four.

Stanford University tackle John Haygood is a 22-pound junior from Charlotte, N. C.

Just Isn't Much Irish-MSU Game

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Last year's Michigan State-Notre Dame football game — never mind its anticlimactic 10-10 finish—came as close as a game ever could to deciding a national championship.

This year, the Spartans have already been beaten three times and the Irish can't even claim the championship of Indiana. The upstart Indiana University team has won five in a row and is 10th in The Associated Press poll.

And as if the woeful records of the two teams weren't disappointing enough, events of the past week have further conspired against the game. Michigan State quarterback Jimmy Raye is definitely out of the game with bruised ribs and six other players were suspended for violating curfew.

About the only Spartan group at full strength is the band with 175 performers and eight new trumpets.

Notre Dame is 3-2, having lost to Purdue and Southern California. Michigan State is 2-3, defeated by Houston, Southern California and Minnesota.

Top-ranked Southern California plays Oregon. The unbeaten Trojans should have little trouble as the Ducks lost their first five games, three without scoring a point, before beating Idaho last week.

Second-rated UCLA has the week off to plan for rugged Oregon State next week. The Beavers, who knocked off second-ranked Purdue last week, meet Washington State, while Purdue due, now No. 7, plays hapless Iowa, 1-3-1.

Colorado, No. 3, meets Big Eight conference foe Oklahoma State. The Buffaloes have won five without losing while the Cowboys are 1-1-2. Fourth-ranked Tennessee bumps up against LSU. The Volunteers have come back from an opening-game loss to UCLA to post a 3-1 mark. The Tigers are 4-1, having lost only to Miami.

North Carolina State, No. 5, meets Duke. The Wolfpack is 6-0, while the Blue Devils are 3-3. Georgia, No. 6, with a 4-1 mark, plays Kentucky, which is winless after five tries.

Wyoming, No. 8, with a 6-0 mark, takes on Arizona State. 5-1. Ninth-ranked Houston, 4-1, meets Mississippi. 3-2. And Indiana tries to protect its No. 10 rating and unbeaten streak against Arizona, 1-3-1.

U.S. Big Winner At Swim Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Don Schollander doesn't expect to burn as bright in 1968 as he did in 1964, but he has served notice he plans to retire in a blaze of glory after leading U. S. swimmers to four gold medals Thursday night in the Pre-Olympics.

The Yale University student, who won four gold medals in the '64 Olympics at Tokyo, captured his second and third golds in the second day of swimming at these Olympic trials.

He outdueled Russia's Leonid Iliechov in the 100-meter free-style and then anchored the winning U. S. team in the 400-meter free-style relays after grabbing the 100-meter free-style Wednesday.

Carl Robie of Philadelphia in the 100-meter butterfly and Jane Barkman of Wayne, Pa., in the women's 100-meter free-style gave the United States its other two golds for the day.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wilf Martin's two goals plus the solid playmaking of Fred Glover and Cecil Hokekstra led the American Hockey League Cleveland Barons to a 4-3 victory over the San Diego Gulls of the Western Hockey League Thursday night.

Pickaway Sports Perspective

By STEVE JONES

Circleville High School's football team has been accorded a position in the top ten teams in the state by Associated Press sportswriters and sportscasters who vote on the weekly poll.

It is an honor to be so highly rated and a credit to the present team, and Circleville's record over the past seven seasons.

For the past seven years, Circleville has had exceptional coaches and outstanding material. The Tigers have won or shared five of seven South Central Ohio League titles, winning 60 games, losing nine and tying one. This year's record is 7-0.

The Tigers have a 14 game winning streak and have lost only one game over last season and this current campaign.

Gridders like Steve Dade, Eddie Wells, Bob Tootle, Tom Wright, Rod Sines, Craig Lambert, Jim Campbell, Jim Samuel, Steve Carroll, Don Cordle, Rick Sims, Dick Thornton, Bob Dean, Lynn Heath, Bill Gates, Jerry Myers, George Hill, Phil Diehl, Frankie Carter, Danny Smith, all of whom have played in starting roles at some time during the season, can be credited with the fine record this year.

But a boy who has never worn a varsity uniform is probably the chief influencing factor in achieving state recognition for the Tigers.

Roger Lutz is the "tub thumper" for Circleville. A student manager, each week Roger sends letters to just about every sports desk in Ohio, asking voters to look kindly at the defending SCO champs when casting their ballots.

Coaches Paul Starr, Dick Fisher, Jim Lint, Kent Carpenter, Danny Fouts and Brent Bell have guided the team to a fine record.

But if it weren't for an enthusiastic student publicity director, Circleville's Tigers might still be 42nd as they were the first time they were mentioned in the poll instead of 10th.

Wittenberg-OWU Game Tops Ohio College Card

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's major college football teams all see action Saturday but the best game of the day could unfurl at Delaware.

Unbeaten Wittenberg (5-0), ranked seventh in the small college AP poll, risks its unblemished record against undefeated Ohio Wesleyan in a clash that could determine the Ohio Conference champion.

The Fighting Bishops are 4-0-1 and like Wittenberg, have won their only two games in the OC.

Both have explosive attacks and stingy defenses. Wesleyan's Bob Badami tops the loop in passing with 1,006 yards and 15 rushing with 540 yards while the Tigers' Gene Laughman has passed for 1,006 yards and 15 touchdowns, the league's best aerial marks.

In other top attractions, Ohio State entertains Illinois (1-4) on Homecoming Day in a match of sputtering attacks. The Buckeyes, 2-2 on the season and 1-1 in the Big Ten, need a victory to keep their Rose Bowl aspirations intact.

Muskies Lose To Anaheim

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minnesota was cold. So were the Muskies. And the fans don't seem to have warmed up to the idea of a new professional team either.

Only 807 customers turned out Thursday night as the temperature was in the 30s and Anaheim beat Minnesota 115-99 in an American Basketball Association contest.

The Amigos turned a 26-24 first-quarter lead into a 61-55 half-time bulge and coasted home from there.

In other ABA games Thursday night, New Jersey edged Kentucky 134-131 at Louisville before 3,985 fans and Oakland downed Indiana 118-114 on the West Coast before a crowd of 2,986. No games were scheduled in the National Basketball Association.

Winter Golf

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Winter won't bother Ohio State University's golf team. They'll just roll out their new putting green when the snow falls. The 15 x 20 foot carpet, to be used in the OSU field house, is made of artificial grass similar to that in the Astrodome at Houston, Tex.

NEW PARK MANAGER — Kenneth Kingery, a native of Ross County, has assumed his duties at A. W. Marion State Park as the new manager. He replaces Cloyce Hattery who was transferred to Independence Dam Park near Defiance.

Access Road At Lake Near Completion

Fishermen using Hargus Lake at A. W. Marion State Park will soon be able to drive their cars to the east shore of the lake. A gravel access road is nearly finished.

The construction is being completed by the Van Camp Construction Co. The Warner-Huffer Road, which at one time extended from the Bolender-Pontious Road to the Ringgold-Southern Road, is being rebuilt to the edge of the lake.

The road will provide access for fishermen to the very edge of the lake. A turn-around has been graveled near the shoreline.

In addition, the parking lot at the dam site is being enlarged and paved. The road leading to the lot is also being repaved.

EARLIER this summer the parking lot at the boat ramp was paved and enlarged. A new boat-launching ramp was completed in the spring. A well was dug and a new well-house constructed. All this was completed at an approximate cost of $43,000.

The present work on the access road to the east side and on the parking lot at the dam site is being funded with monies from the Division of Highways, according to Marvin Rebolz, chief of the division of parks.

No major capital improvements are presently planned for the next biennium, Rebolz said. A total of $110,000 was appropriated for capital improvements in the 1965-67 biennium. However, only $45,200 of that amount was expended.

The other $64,800 lapsed. The Division of Parks, in the appropriation bill presented to the legislature last summer, made no request for additional funds at the park.

Hargus Lake Stocked

The Ohio Division of Wildlife recently stocked 2,000 large mouth bass fingerlings in Hargus Lake, A. W. Marion State Park.

Miami of Oxford, Ohio has two senior centers from Toledo on its football squad. They are double letter winner Paul Krasula, 221, and Marty Torgler, 202.

Kenneth Kingery Is New Manager at Marion Park

Kenneth Kingery, 30, a native of Bourneville in Ross County, has assumed his duties as the manager of A. W. Marion State Park.

An employee of the division of Parks for the past two years, Kingery is married and the father of five children.

He attended school at Twin Twp. in Ross County, now a part of the Paint Valley School District.

Kingery started with the division of parks as a laborer at Rocky Fork Lake State Park in Highland County. He was transferred to Cowan Lake Park in Clinton County, serving as assistant manager there until his present assignment.

HE replaces Cloyce Hattery, who was transferred to Independence Dam State Park near Defiance. Hattery came to A. W. Marion Park in April, 1965, following 4½ years as laborer and labor foreman at East Harbor State Park.

At that time, he replaced Fred Miller, the park's first manager. Miller was promoted to manager at Defiance. He resigned recently to accept a position with the Army Corps of Engineers.

In addition to Kingery, the park staff consists of two men, Carl Morris and Archie Ralston. Ralston, however, will be transferred to the new Deer Creek reservoir shortly.

50 College Teams Unbeaten, Untied

With more than half the college football season finished, 50 teams, including 11 major elevens, still are undefeated and untied.

North Dakota State and Kearney, Neb., State lead the list with seven victories, according to a survey by The Associated Press today.

The 11 major teams with unsullied records include Southern California, UCLA, Virginia Tech, East Carolina, North Carolina State and Wyoming with six victories; Colorado and Indiana with five, and Dartmouth, Harvard and Tulsa with four.

Stanford University tackle John Haygood is a 22-pound junior from Charlotte, N. C.

Just Isn't Much Irish-MSU Game

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Last year's Michigan State-Notre Dame football game — never mind its anticlimactic 10-10 finish—came as close as a game ever could to deciding a national championship.

This year, the Spartans have already been beaten three times and the Irish can't even claim the championship of Indiana. The upstart Indiana University team has won five in a row and is 10th in The Associated Press poll.

And as if the woeful records of the two teams weren't disappointing enough, events of the past week have further conspired against the game. Michigan State quarterback Jimmy Raye is definitely out of the game with bruised ribs and six other players were suspended for violating curfew.

About the only Spartan group at full strength is the band with 175 performers and eight new trumpets.

Notre Dame is 3-2, having lost to Purdue and Southern California. Michigan State is 2-3, defeated by Houston, Southern California and Minnesota.

Top-ranked Southern California plays Oregon. The unbeaten Trojans should have little trouble as the Ducks lost their first five games, three without scoring a point, before beating Idaho last week.

Second-rated UCLA has the week off to plan for rugged Oregon State next week. The Beavers, who knocked off second-ranked Purdue last week, meet Washington State, while Purdue due, now No. 7, plays hapless Iowa, 1-3-1.

Colorado, No. 3, meets Big Eight conference foe Oklahoma State. The Buffaloes have won five without losing while the Cowboys are 1-1-2. Fourth-ranked Tennessee bumps up against LSU. The Volunteers have come back from an opening-game loss to UCLA to post a 3-1 mark. The Tigers are 4-1, having lost only to Miami.

North Carolina State, No. 5, meets Duke. The Wolfpack is 6-0, while the Blue Devils are 3-3. Georgia, No. 6, with a 4-1 mark, plays Kentucky, which is winless after five tries.

Wyoming, No. 8, with a 6-0 mark, takes on Arizona State, 5-1. Ninth-ranked Houston, 4-1, meets Mississippi, 3-2. And Indiana tries to protect its No. 10 rating and unbeaten streak against Arizona, 1-3-1.

U.S. Big Winner At Swim Meet

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Don Schollander doesn't expect to burn as bright in 1968 as he did in 1964, but he has served notice he plans to retire in a blaze of glory after leading U. S. swimmers to four gold medals Thursday night in the Pre-Olympics.

The Yale University student, who won four gold medals in the '64 Olympics at Tokyo, captured his second and third golds in the second day of swimming at these Olympic trials.

He outdueled Russia's Leonid Iliechov in the 100-meter free-style and then anchored the winning U. S. team in the 400 meter free-style relays after grabbing the 100-meter free-style Wednesday.

Carl Robie of Philadelphia in the 100meter butterfly and Jane Barkman of Wayne, Pa., in the women's 100-meter free-style gave the United States its other two golds for the day.

Barons Top Gulls

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Wilf Martin's two goals plus the solid playmaking of Fred Glover and Cecil Hoekstra led the American Hockey League Cleveland Barons to a 4-3 victory over the San Diego Gulls of the Western Hockey League Thursday night.

1953 Game Not To Be Repeated

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fifteen years ago, Ohio State's football team routed Indiana and California and awaited what seemed a routine visit from Illinois.

When the dust cleared on that football Saturday in 1953, the Illinois, led by twin hurricanes J. C. Caroline and Mickey Bates, had trampled the Bucks, 41-20. Such individual grid heroics are not likely to occur this Saturday when bruised and battered Illinois, with only one victory in five games, invades Ohio Stadium to help the Buckeyes celebrate homecoming day. Celebration, it will be, if the Bucks, who need a victory to keep alive their slim Big Ten title hopes, can come out on top. The oddsmakers figure Ohio is seven points better than Illinois, probably because the Bucks are in better physical shape and a partisan throng of 84,000 should bolster their spirits. Both clubs are looking for ways to add punch to their sluggish attacks.

Ohio has a 2-2 seasonal record and is 1-1 in the conference. The Buckeyes have beaten Oregon, lost to Arizona and Purdue and last week squeezed by Northwestern, 6-2. Illinois has beaten only weak Pittsburgh and last week absorbed a 47-7 pounding from Notre Dame. Coach Woody Hayes expects his team to be at full strength with the return of fullback Paul Huff and middle guard Vic Stottlemeyer.

Dave Jackson, a speedy halfback who has missed the last two games, will suit up for the Illinois. But star quarterback Bob Napolie, out since the Indiana fray, is not expected to see action. If Ohio gets its passing game clicking, the match could turn out to be a duel between two of the league's best split ends.

Ohio's Billy Anders has grabbed 15 for 215 yards and one touchdown while John Wright of the Illinois has caught 29 for 449 yards and two scores. Backup quarterback Dean Volkman is entrusted with the task of guiding the visitors while Hayes figures to alternate Kev Rusnak, Gerry Ehrsam and Bill Long. Rusnak will start.

An alert Buckeye defensive secondary could hold the key to the outcome. Led by Ted Provost who has picked off seven passes, the Bucks have intercepted 13 errant tosses this year, four more than all of last season. The game starts at 1:30 p.m. (EDT).

Congress Hopes Recess Possible by Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (AP) — With hopes high and fingers crossed, Congress is shooting for adjournment of its 1967 session before Thanksgiving Day.

Its leaders believe that with a little luck and no unforeseen snags they can hit that target date after this week's sudden break in the legislative logjam that has dragged the session through almost 10 months.

The big money bills, perennial sources of trouble, have started to move with a rush. Three more were sent to the President Thursday.

But weary leaders, accustomed to have their best-laid plans wrecked, were cautious in their adjournment predictions.

"Only fair," said House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, D-Okla., when asked what he thought of chances for adjournment by Thanksgiving.

"A good chance," said House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said the Turkey Day get-away prospects were good, if there is to be no tax hike bill.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, appeared to remove Mansfield's "if" by agreeing chances for the late-November adjournment looked good to him. Tax legislation originates in Mills' committee, which could hardly get a revenue measure ready for initial House action before late November.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen was less optimistic than the others. He felt mid-December was a more realistic target date.

The unofficial list of "must" bills for disposal this year has been narrowed. It now includes Social Security, foreign aid, anti-poverty and pay raise legislation, plus the remaining money bills. The list may be pared down further as the fever to quit spreads, with only the money measures absolutely demanding action.

None of the left-over bills would lose their advanced position.

School Board Out of Order

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio (AP)—The State Department of Education ruled Thursday night the Martins Ferry Board of Education has violated state laws by violating salary increases granted teachers earlier this year.

The teachers have boycotted classes since Tuesday in the pay dispute with the board, forcing schools to close.

Martin Essex, state superintendent of public instruction, ordered President Carl A. Mitchell of the Martins Ferry board, to "take appropriate corrective action and notify me of your compliance within 10 days."

Short of Goal

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 1967 United Appeal campaign in Cleveland, which ended Thursday, raised a total of $16,173,808, which was 96.6 per cent of the goal.

tion if not acted on by adjournment time, since the present Congress meets again next January and picks up where it leaves off this year.

House-passed bills dealing with aid to education, civil rights and Social Security revision may be brushed aside until next year.

There was general agreement that the biggest stumbling block now in the path of adjournment is the anti-poverty program. The Senate has passed a bill to continue the program and the House plans to consider its own version the second week in November.

New German Espionage Case Broken

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — Federal authorities today veiled in secrecy their probe of a new espionage affair in which a multimillionaire businessman was put behind bars on suspicion of working for Communist East German intelligence.

Han-Heinz Porst, 45, owner of Germany's largest photography store chain, was arrested Tuesday in a raid that drew bannerlines through the country. One of his employees had been taken into custody last week.

Federal Atty. Gen. Ludwig Martin would merely say that Porst was suspected of having had contacts with East Germany for "many years."

He declined comment on whether there was any link with the arrest of four Germans in Bonn two weeks ago following defection to the West of a Soviet spy.

Dieter Reiber, an executive of Porst's "Photo-Porst" chain, issued a statement condemning the arrest as "absurd and incredible."

Reiber is Porst's deputy in the management of the 50-store chain and various other business interests whose sales reportedly totaled $37.5 million last year.

Porst, a flamboyant type who likes hunting, flying his private plane and driving expensive American cars, is married and has four children who live in a villa outside Nuernberg.

4-Mill Levy Proposed for Teays Valley

Voters in Teays Valley School district are being asked to support an additional four-mill tax levy in the November election.

Recent legislation enacted by the Ohio General Assembly has created a new need for additional funds. This bill, known as the Education-Tax Bill, requires the following:

All school districts must meet the minimum teacher salary schedule as outlined in the bill. To meet this requirement Teays Valley will need to spend three additional mills above what they presently receive.

School districts must increase the salaries of non-teaching employees to a minimum of ten cents per hour. This section of the bill necessitates an increase in taxes of one mill.

ALSO required is that school districts meet a minimum tax levy of 17.5 mills for operation, or lose all state foundation money. Teays Valley presently has a school tax of 15.7 mills for operation. Should the school fail to meet the minimum requirement it could lose $300,000 a year in state money.

Under the new law the State Board of Education has the responsibility to inspect charter school districts. Any district in trouble financially or in maintaining educational standards, can be reassigned to any neighboring school district.

Such reorganization of the Teays Valley district would result in a higher tax rate than that presently proposed for the area.

The new four-mill levy will create an additional $166,000, which the administration believes is necessary to meet current operating expenses, and conform with the state education requirements.

Wapakoneta Man Indicted for Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—The former head of a Riverside, Conn., flooring company and three former salesmen — including an Ohioan — were indicted Thursday on charges of conspiracy in an alleged $500,000 fraud scheme using "chain" sales of wall-to-wall carpeting.

The Ohioan was identified as Kent R. Morris, 40, of Wapakoneta.

William J. Armantrout, 34, former president of Modern Floor Fashions, Inc., was charged with conspiracy and mail fraud. Armantrout now lives in St. Louis, where he was arrested Wednesday.

The sales ring allegedly got rid of 500 carpets at $1,000 each by promising customers they would get $50 commissions for referrals to more customers.

Courts Put Dent In Pornography

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional clamor and a controversial Supreme Court ruling have put a big dent in the mail-order pornography business, the government's chief postal sleuth says.

Complaints about offensive mail have plunged 30 per cent, Chief Inspector Henry B. Montague said, since the Supreme Court ruled 19 months ago that lurid advertising may be weighed against the defendant in obscenity trials.

And 20 legislative proposals to combat pornography have sounded a further alarm to the commercial peddlers of smut.

"I think some of these dealers have had second thoughts since the Ginzburg case," Montague said in an interview. "They're awaiting further developments — but for now they've decided it might be wiser to keep their stuff out of the mail."

From 1962 to 1966, Montague said, complaints about offensive mailings climbed from 52,000 to more than 197,000.

The Supreme Court, upholding the obscenity-by-mail conviction of publisher Ralph Ginzburg, ruled in March 1966 that advertising designed to titillate may be considered in deciding whether the advertised material itself is obscene.

In the following year, complaints to postmasters dropped nearly to 140,000. A California publisher of nudist magazines was convicted last February of sending obscene matter into Iowa. And complaints during the first three months of the current fiscal year are around 17,000—a 50 per cent drop from the corresponding period last year.

But if the postman is delivering less offensive material, someone apparently is circulating more. It's the opinion of Montague, a quiet, solemn man who seldom laughs, that "there's more hard-core pornography in circulation today even if it's not moving by mail. The ads are in girls' magazines instead of mailboxes. The magazines usually move by truck."

Montague and other federal officials define hard-core pornography as that depicting actual sexual relations or perversions. Virtually all of the hard-core material is pictorial, since the courts have all but eliminated the possibility of obscenity findings for printed matter.

New Officers Named by Farm Bureau

Pickaway County Farm Bureau held its annual organizational meeting of the Farm Bureau Board at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Pickaway Arms.

New officers were elected by the 17 members of the board present at the dinner meeting. Loring Leist, Route 4, presided over the elections as his last official act as outgoing president.

Harold Richard, Route 2, Ashville, was unanimously elected president for a one year term. Other officers are John Stevenson, Route 2, vice president; Harry Kern, Route 2, secretary and Carl Shine, Route 2, treasurer.

New trustees meeting for the first time with the board last night were Mrs. Herman Hines, Route 3; Wayne Luckhart, Route 1, Laurelville; Don Bower, Route 1; and Charles Rager, Route 1, Ashville.

A 10 minute photo-slide program was presented by Blake Gerber, regional Farm Bureau supervisor. Purpose of the program was to introduce new members of the board and officers to their duties.
